Exciting!

Each of Us Has Known . . .

These breathless moments:

Cheering the winning touchdown,

Swaying to "No, Not Much",

Trying out for Reflections Revelries,

Ironing our robes for graduation.

Even day to day things like

Rushing to Roundy's for lunch,

Meeting that special someone in the hall,

Cramming for a big exam,

Receiving report cards with thumping hearts

Give us that special feeling.

So Here We Are . . .

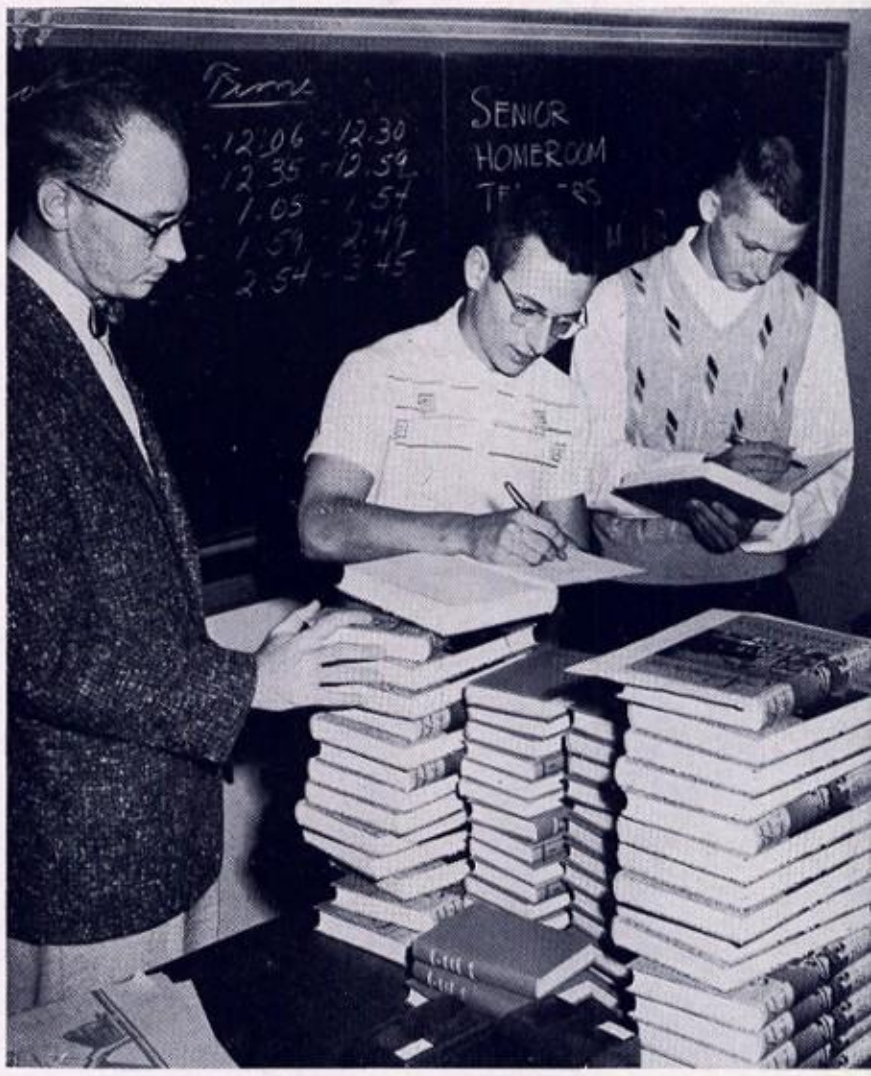
Anticipation mounts as sophomores, juniors, and seniors gather on the front steps, waiting for the first bell of the new school year.

This exciting new life begins for freshmen Donna Norman and Gail Nelson as they receive their program cards.

"I go to 219 next. What about you?" Senior Wally Novak, juniors Helene Neer, Hal Neimer, and Dick Nelson compare their schedules for first semester.



SUMMER ENDS AND A NEW YEAR OF SCHOOL BEGINS

That day looked forward to with mixed emotions is here at last—the first day of school. The buzz of 1850 students waiting before the main door reaches a high pitch as we question what the new school year will bring. The bell rings! Picking up program cards, getting new books, becoming acquainted with teachers, greeting old friends . . . we're swept up in the rush of school. Although feelings range from the frightened bewilderment of a freshman starting a new life to the carefree confidence of a senior ending a high school career, everyone agrees that the first day of school is exciting.

Seniors Ken Walter and Bob Blowers, receiving textbooks from Mr. Bruce Sorensen, dread the homework soon to begin.

A new teacher and new students become acquainted with each other and with the school as Miss Mary DiTullio explains high school life to Al Heppner, Vic Bernell, Sennet Tzinberg, and Ronald Schultz, of her freshman homeroom.

Crowds . . .

FILL HALLS AND CLASS ROOMS

Crowds and confusion are a problem in a school with an ever-increasing population. We fill the halls, creating traffic jams outside the library and at the third floor entrance to the new wing. More students produce a need for more classrooms, a need which is met by having English classes in the art room, sociology in the Assembly Room, and classes all through the day in Rooms 322 and 222, which will be hallways when the new addition is completed in September of 1956.

More students travel up and down the stairways than ever before as enrollment continues to increase.

Sidewalk superintendents Joyce Olson, Ted Pristash, and Bruce Peterson look over the foundation of the new wing started in September.

With only a twenty-six minute lunch period, students impatiently wait in the long lines in the cafeteria.

Learning . . .

IS EXCITING, TOO . . .
STUDIES HELP US
DISCOVER NEW WORLDS

Chemistry, American lit, world history, Spanish, Algebra — homework piles up as we pass from class to class. We delve into new fields of knowledge and become experts in specialized subjects by taking notes in class, conducting experiments, doing daily assignments, and writing research papers, projects, and term papers. Because the work is never ending, week nights are packed with hours of study. Going over assignments on the telephone, using a dictionary to check the meaning of a word, and listening to Eddie Hubbard as we read about the Revolutionary War fill the hours from dinner to bed time.

The unknown challenges Frank Saunders, Dave Karas, Bette Halvorsen, and Lois Adelman who experiment with hydrochloric acid in the chemistry lab.

Bill DiGilio, Barb McKaig, Rosemary Nitsche, and Jack Hagman tell Adrienne Falcon "We're from Niles, couldn't be prouder," as they explain student activities when Niheli was featured on the television show, "Hi Time For Coke", on November 12.

School isn't just studies—to most of us it is our world, a world created by using our talents and interests in working and playing together. Our combined efforts produce the Nilehilite, Golden Galleon, and yearbook. The thrill of seeing our story in print is equaled only by our satisfaction as we cooperate in running the Student Supervised Study Halls, or the lift of heart we feel in singing with the choir in Christmas Vespers. Through the class cabinets, Student Council, and Student Court, we make rules, conduct contests, give dances, and enforce laws—increasing our leadership abilities while adding to the fun of school life.

THOUGHTS STRAY FROM ASSIGNMENTS . . .

Bette Halvorsen, Anne Collins, Karen Holmberg, Eileen Corr, and Debbie Rothholtz transform the drab gym into a winter wonderland for the Belles and Beaux Cotillion.

Admiring the shagged crepe paper and glittering tinsel, juniors Judy Burt and Doug Wold listen to the sounds of rustling taffeta and the rhythmic brushes of a drum. Dancing to the strains of stardust melodies are Barbara Kitch and Dave Lindquist and Donna Vanderwall and Wally Bornemeier.

Finally . . . THE CLASS BELL IS SILENT; THE WEEKEND ARRIVES

T. G. I. F. — thank goodness it's Friday!

After yelling ourselves hoarse at the football game, we pile into the car, head for Cooley's for a bite to eat, and then home for a good night's sleep. Saturday comes, but not until ten or eleven o'clock. At eight o'clock looking our best, we set out for for the Teatro—or downtown if it's a special evening—and later join the crowd for pizza at Albertis. A kiss goodnight completes the evening, and we give a sigh of satisfaction as we dream about the wonderful time we have had.

"Hold that line, hey; hold that line!" Varsity cheerleaders Beth Williamson, Lynne Izard, Alva Sholin, Cynthia Johnson, Linda Morse, and Jo Ann Lotz give moral support to the team with their spirited yelling.

Learning . . .

IS STIMULATING . . .

WE HAVE FUN - - UNTIL GRADES COME OUT!

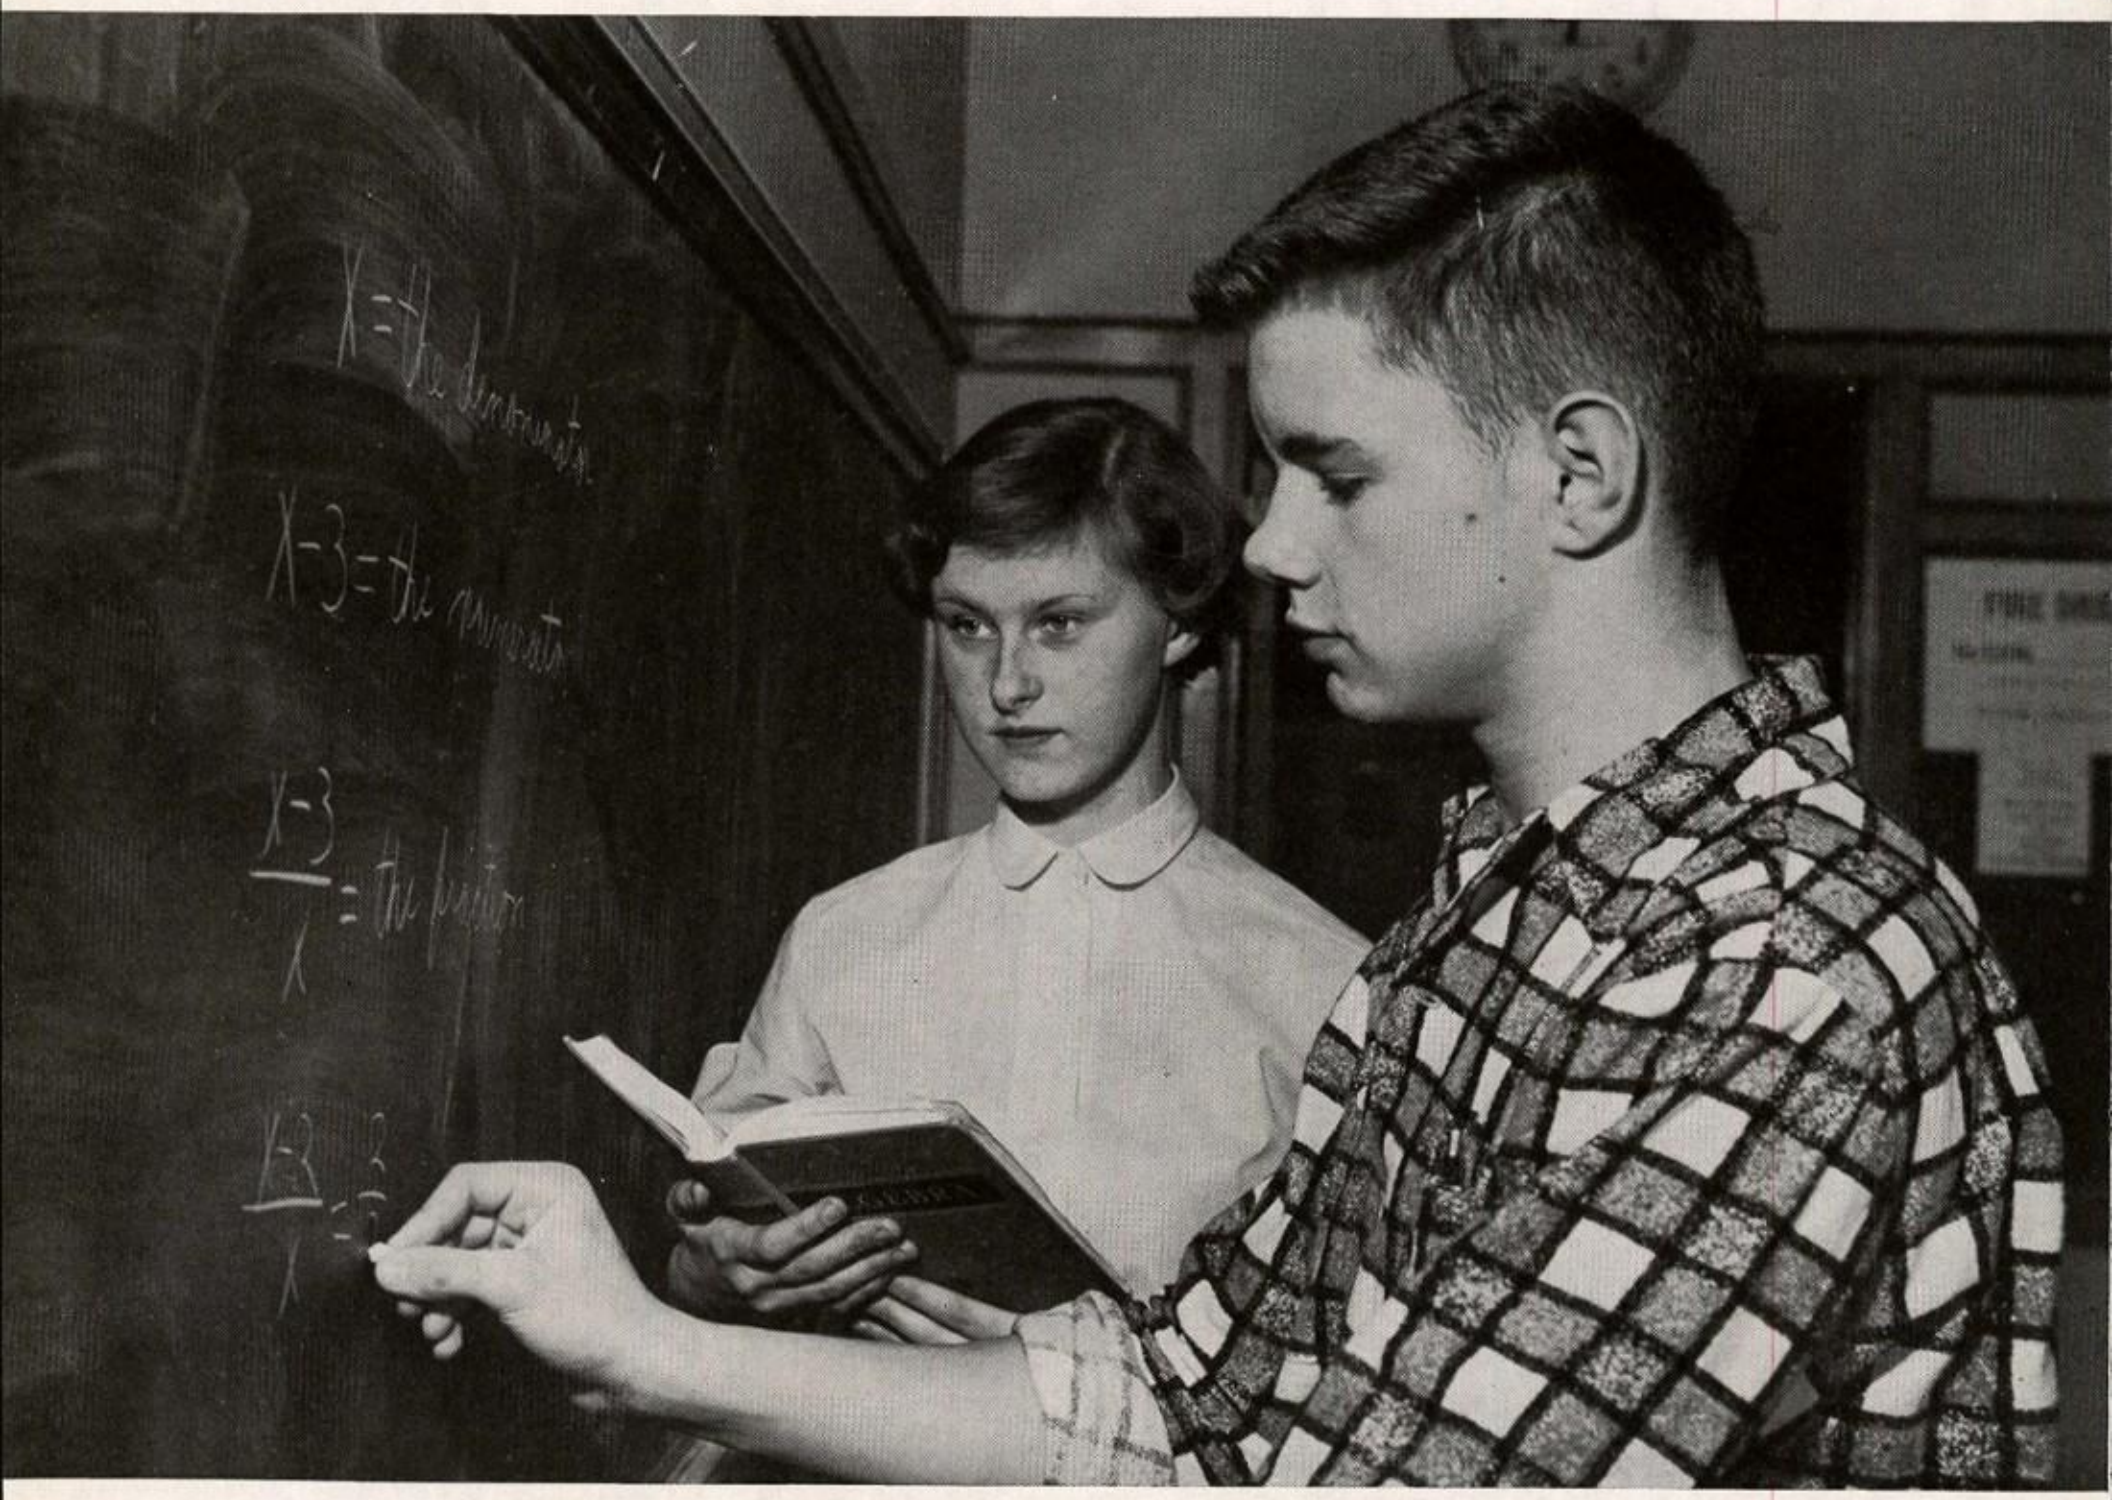
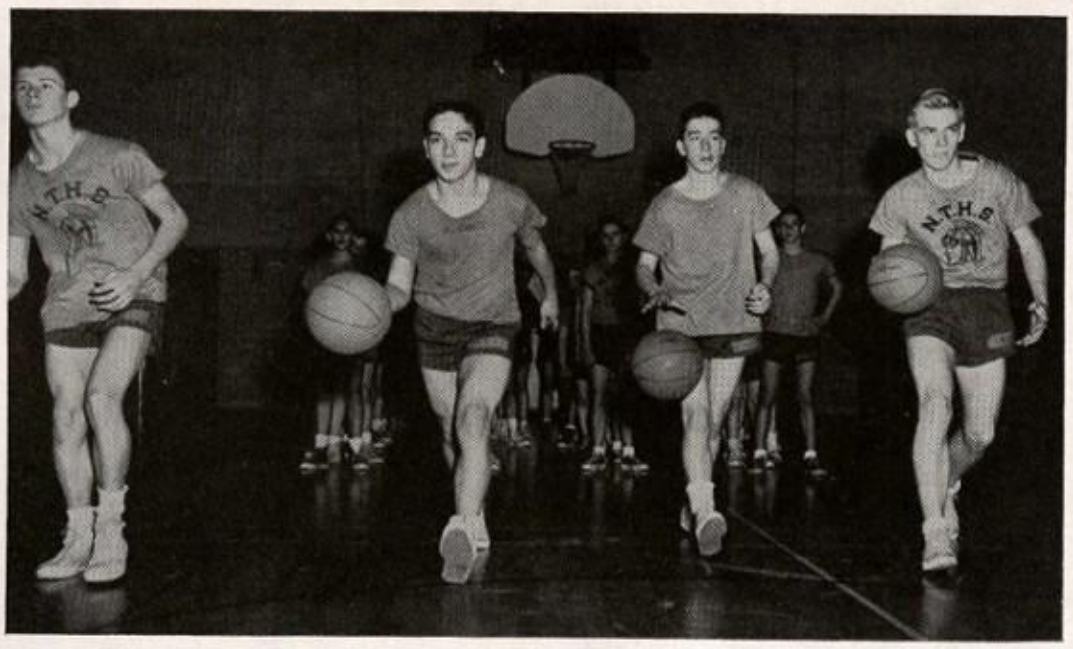
Grades are all important! Because of the poor marks on Mike Sheahan's report card, he has been "put into the dog house." Neither Mike nor the pooch look too happy about this new arrangement.

No, it isn't a Mr. Magoo cartoon! As a matter of fact, who thought that psychology could be so amusing? Maybe Joyce Holtz, Dale Kaiser, and Myrna Zlatos should be psychoanalyzed.

ENGLISH, MATHEMATICS, SOCIAL STUDIES, AND





Freshmen George Widdel, Barry Mink, Cliff Shey, and Wayne Brummer develop coordination by learning the skill of dribbling a basketball in physical education.

SCIENCE . . .

To acquire mastery of the basic mathematical skills and to develop perfection in analytic thinking, freshmen Penny Mair and Bill McGrath work together to solve an algebra problem.

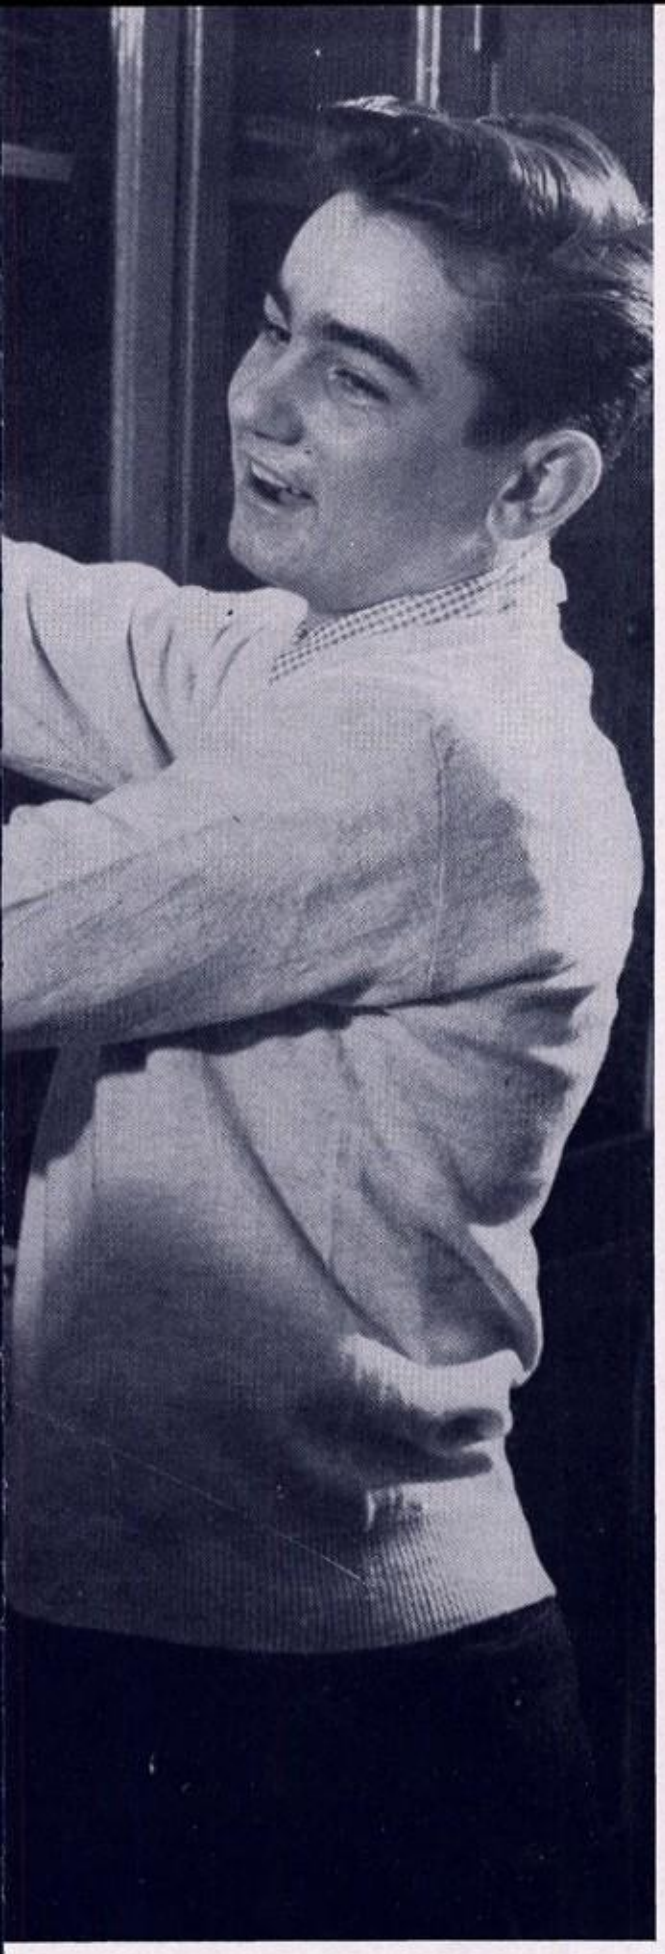
General science students Norman Lavander, Fred Weil, and Duane Creviston explore the miracles of modern science by experimenting with water pressure.

U.S. history student Dick Rasmussen briefs Carol Trobeuk, Greg Dolin, and Cynthia Cordes on how to present a report to the class. In social studies students study about democracy using the democratic method of student-centered instruction.

. . . PROVIDE A CORE OF LEARNING EXPERIENCES.

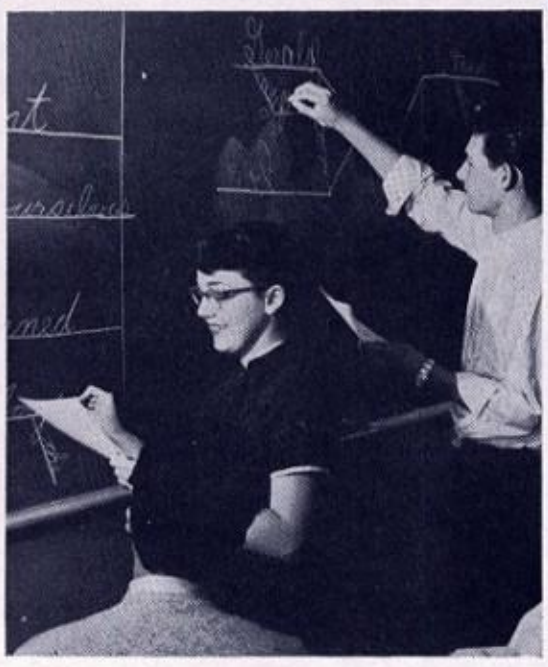
At a time when education is being criticized for having abandoned the traditional curriculum, Niles Township High School requires that approximately one-half of the thirty-two credits required for graduation be in the fields of social studies, English, mathematics, and science. All students are required to take Social Studies 1 and 2, U. S. History 1 and 2, and, in the senior year, Problems of American Democracy plus one other semester of family living, sociology, or Latin-American history. All students take three years of English, which, in the junior year, is a study of the development of American literature. Either general math or algebra must be taken to provide two credits in mathematics. The requirements of two credits in science is usually met by taking general science. Finally, physical education is required each semester.

This core of learning experiences provides the student with a good general education designed to provide for directed maturation in terms of the developmental tasks of adolescence; to build an understanding of the scientific basis for maintaining good physical and mental health; to give instruction in critical thinking; to include learning experiences which require making judgment of ethical values and offer opportunities for the cultivation of aesthetic appreciations; and to teach the basic skills exemplifying the processes of democracy essential for competent citizenship.



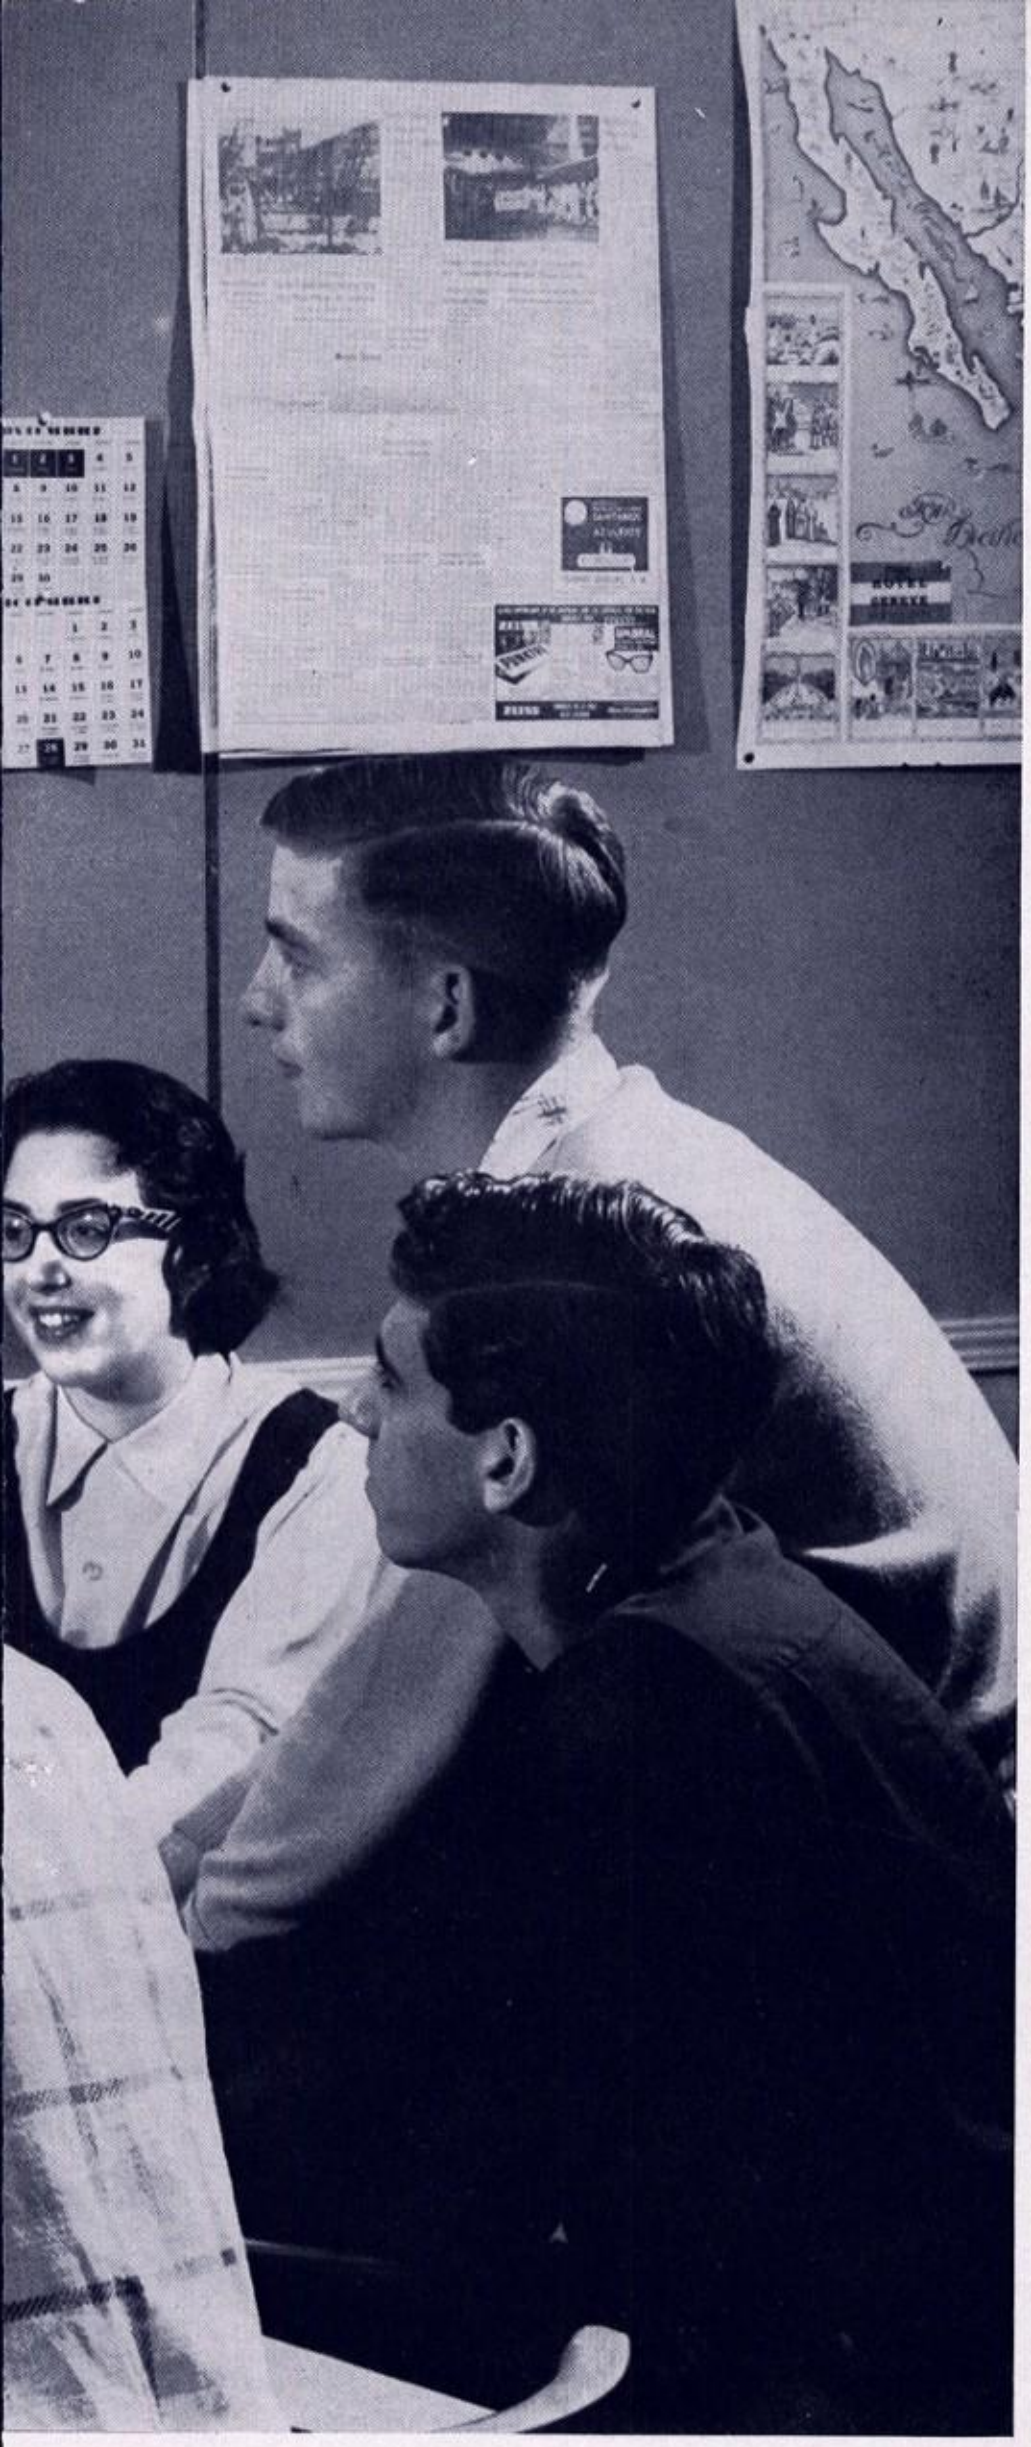
To graduate, every senior must pass a test on the Illinois State Constitution. Carol Schweger and Ken Lavnick use the bulletin board to display pamphlets and pictures explaining the Illinois Constitution.

In freshman social studies students are trained to use the card file. Gerry Beckway, Carol Christianson, and Eddie Copp know that the ability to use the library properly is necessary for success in school work.



Arnold Feinberg and Diane Courtright show their sophomore English class that a sentence is much easier to understand if it has been diagrammed.

"This is the view of Mexico we saw from the plane." Debbie Rothholtz describes the Mexico trip to Eileen Corr, Dorothy Collin, Carole Goldstein, Jim Hodgkinson, Don Morton, and Don Michonski, members of her Spanish class.



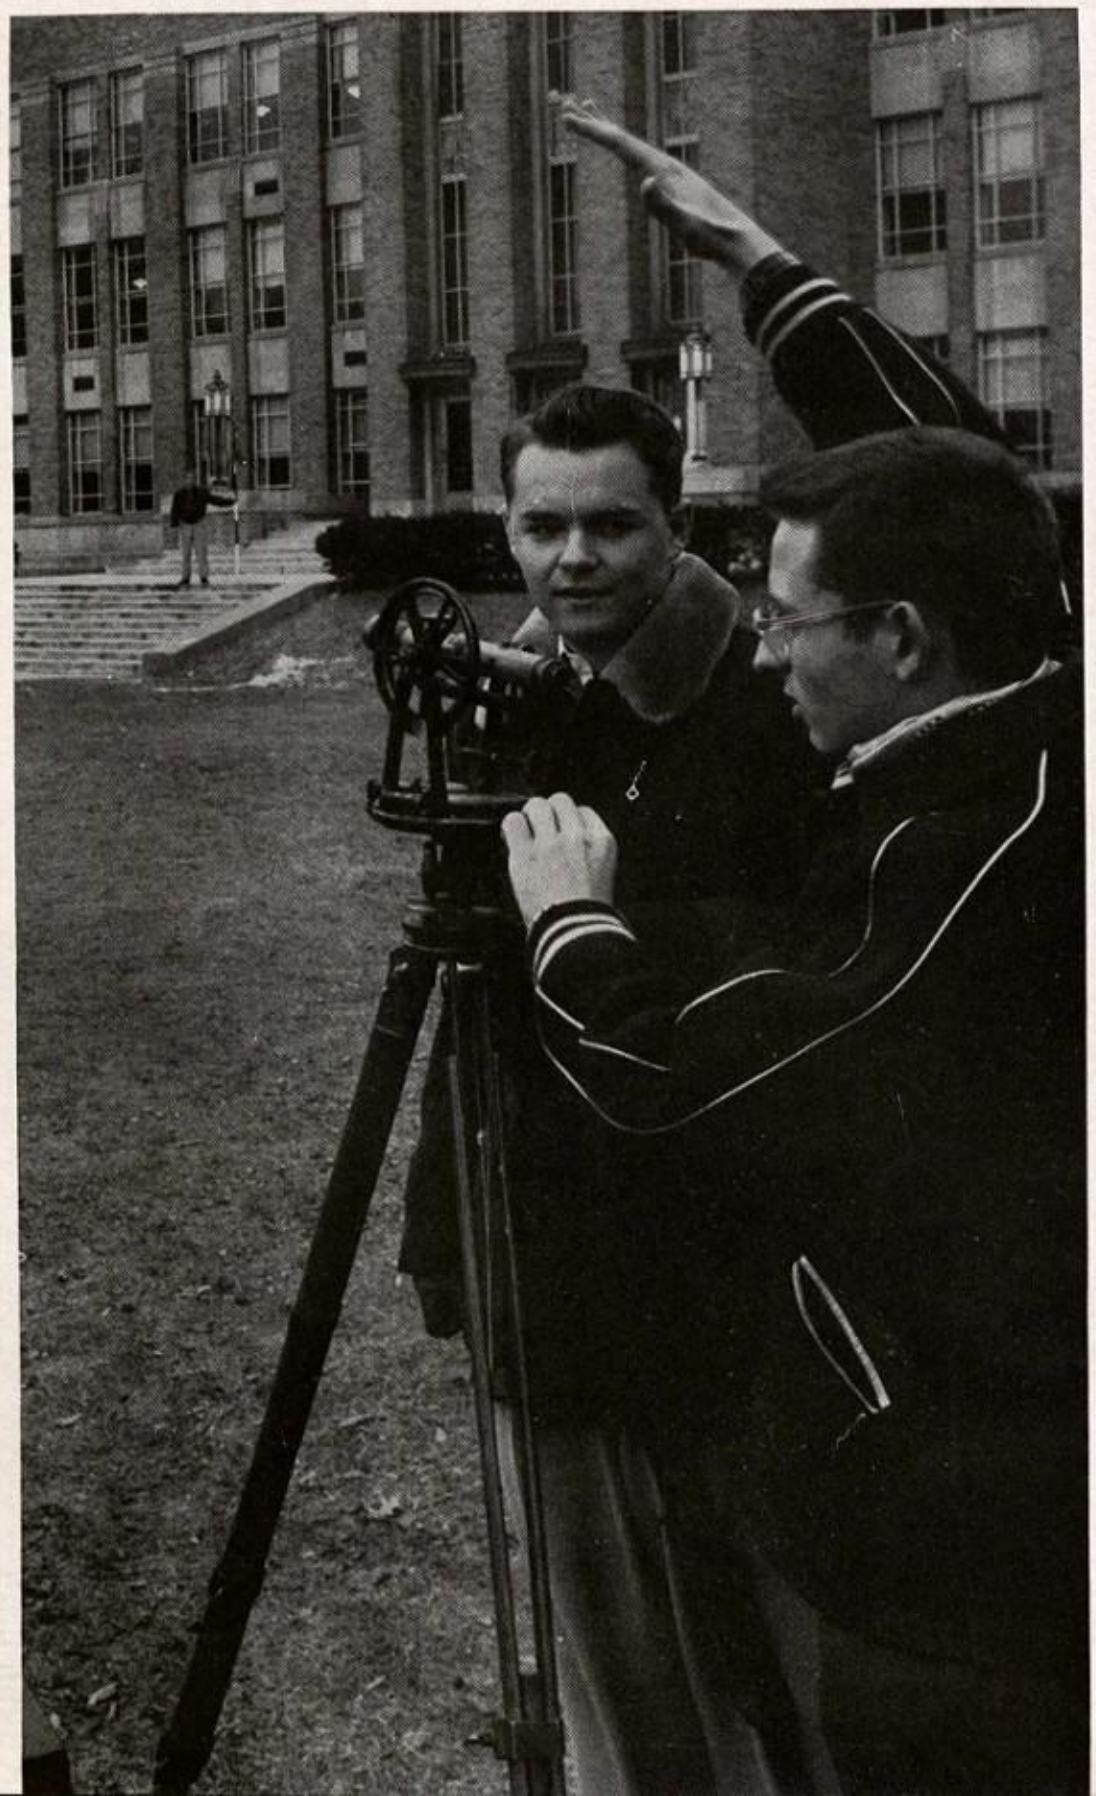
WE PLAN FOR COLLEGE THROUGHOUT HIGH SCHOOL . . . . . .

In the early years of the twentieth century only a small percentage of the population attended high school; today, a college education is commonplace. Colleges, confronted with this problem of increasing enrollments, have raised and are continuing to raise their requirements for admission.

To help the sixty-five per cent of students who will attend college meet the entrance requirements of the college of their choice, Niles Township High School offers seven college preparatory tracks or courses of study. In general, a college preparatory course includes three years of English (with four strongly recommended), one year of algebra, one year of plane geometry, two years of a foreign language, one year of a laboratory science, and two years of social studies. Six other college preparatory tracks in commerce, engineering, science, nursing, natural science, and home economics are designed to provide a student with the courses required for entrance into a specific school of a university.

Since a knowledge of man's past experience is necessary for an understanding of the present, world history students Richard Young, Sharon Olnick, and Jay Doney find the history of past civilization a very pertinent study.

Angles, triangles, and circles are a puzzle to most of us, but geometry students Alan Berberick, Joyce Kortauck, and Gary Spain solve the mystery with the use of protractors and compasses while Nina Nipper and Linda Timmel work theorems.



TAKING COURSES IN TRIGONOMETRY, PHYSICS AND ENGLISH . . .

Allen Lange motions Jerry Vick to the left, while Bob Kuchar assists, as they take the angular measurements between the tower and the front sidewalk.

Examining the internal structure o a lima bean, biology students Sue Bell and Al Cantor prepare a repor on what they have seen.

"Rosemaries for remembrance and pansies for thoughts." Sweet Ophelia scatters flowers in front of Lady Hamlet as Marge Rask and Diane Peterson act out a portion of Hamlet for their senior English class.

Micki Tatman and David Cleven adjust the weights on a pulley as Jules Traut takes notes on the experiment in physics.

Composition, a new course at Niles this year, prepares students for college rhetoric. Staring into space, Marilyn Dell tries to think of the right phrase to express her idea while Karen Frenzel and Mary Kohls check the meaning of a word in the Oxford Dictionary.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE COLLEGE OF OUR CHOICE.

"Dear Mr. Brown:"—students in the beginning class practice typing a business letter before starting their ten minute timings.

In clerical practice, a more advanced phase of business education, seniors Joyce Olson and Sandy Paul learn to cut a stencil.

FOR MANY OF US SCHOOL WILL END WITH GRADUATION . . .

Because graduation will be the end of formal schooling for thirty-five per cent of the students, Niles Township High School offers courses to prepare graduates for entrance into the business, industrial, or homemaking world.

Future secretaries, clerical workers, typists, and bookkeepers are trained in the two business curricula. Students in the stenographic and secretarial curriculum, in addition to two years of typing and shorthand, study General Business and Record Keeping 1, 2 and Business Practices and Business Law, 1, 2. Students in the clerical curriculum, in addition to typing and General Business and Record Keeping 1, 2, take Clerical Practices 1 and 2 in the fourth year. This course provides training in the use of office machines.

To welcome their parents to shorthand class on Parent's Day, senior Janet Ryerson and junior Beverly Wauthier pin up greetings to the Moms and Dads and display work done by the class.

WE TRAIN TO ENTER THE BUSINESS, INDUSTRIAL . . .

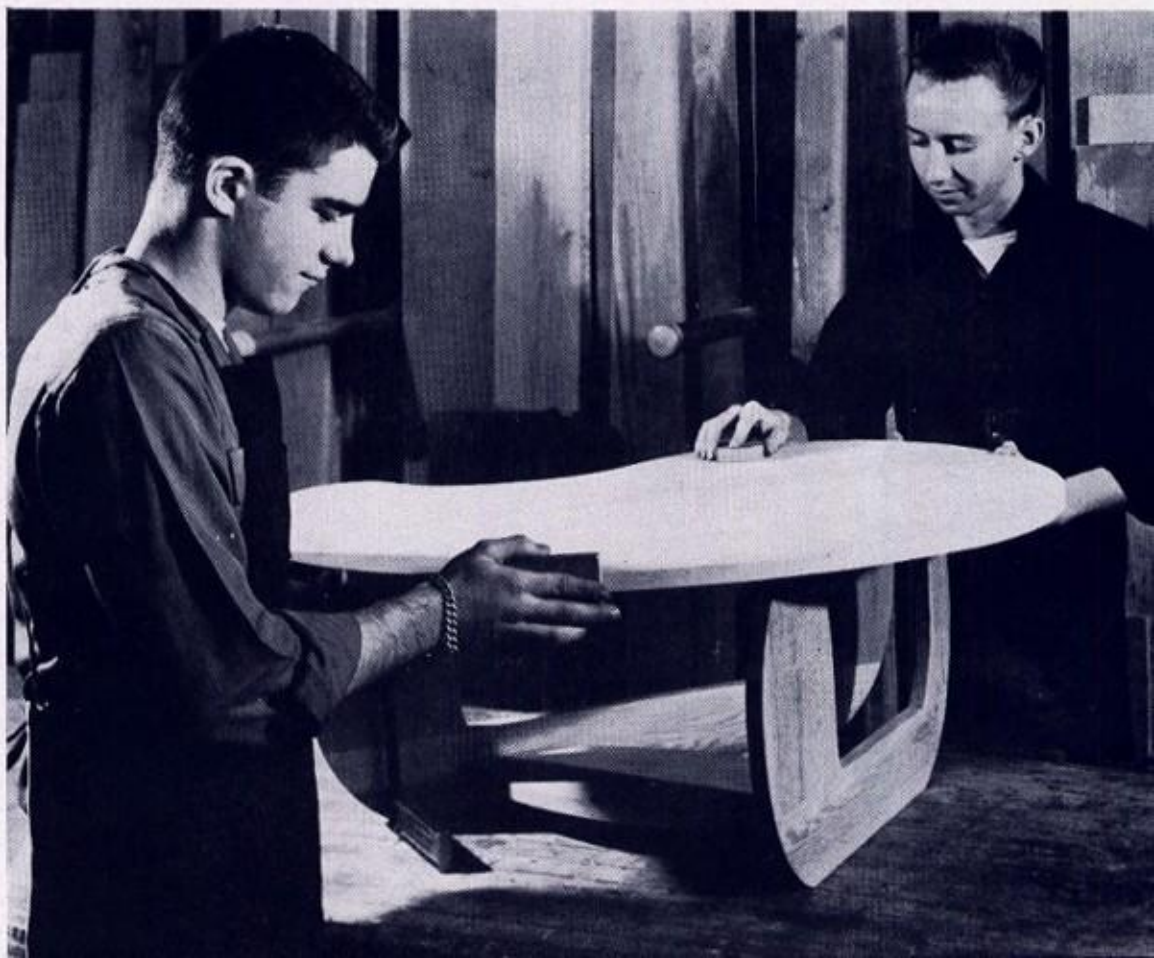
Senior Darlene Thomas, a student in the diversified occupations program, trains to be a dental assistant by working with Dr. Robert Donovan.

The industrial arts curriculum is designed to "prevent excessive repetition and permit broadening a student's educational experience to more than one industrial area." Consequently, a freshman takes Industrial Arts Laboratory 1, which is a survey course, introducing the student to various shop courses. As a sophomore, a student chooses auto mechanics, electricity, industrial drawing, metals, printing, or woods for one semester of study. As a junior or senior, a student chooses one of the above areas for more specialized study. However, the industrial art department recommends that "students be limited during grades ten and twelve to fifty-four weeks in any one area of industrial arts".

For students who wish to work while attending school, Niles Township High School offers the diversified occupation curriculum. This program is organized so that all required subjects and technical related classes are offered in the morning; in the afternoon, students receive on-the-job training in a rotated laboratory experience in business or industry in the community for a minimum of three hours and a maximum of five hours per day.

Making steel punches on the engine lathe, seniors Wayne Johnson and Bruce Peterson work in the metals shop.

"Start the presses rolling!" Seniors Jim Wallace and Curt Basler prepare the press to run off an issue of the Nile-hilite.



Before adding a finish of shellac, juniors Dave Horseman and Bill Yant sand a table made in woodshop.

Cooking a good meal is only part of the job of a homemaker. In advanced foods, juniors Barb Simonsen and Marion Belue set the table attractively, knowing this adds to the enjoyment of a meal.

"Mmmmmmmm! Do they look good." Good homemakers are good cooks, and junior Jerry Rudolph is learning as she takes her rolls from the oven.

. . . . . AND HOMEMAKING WORLD.

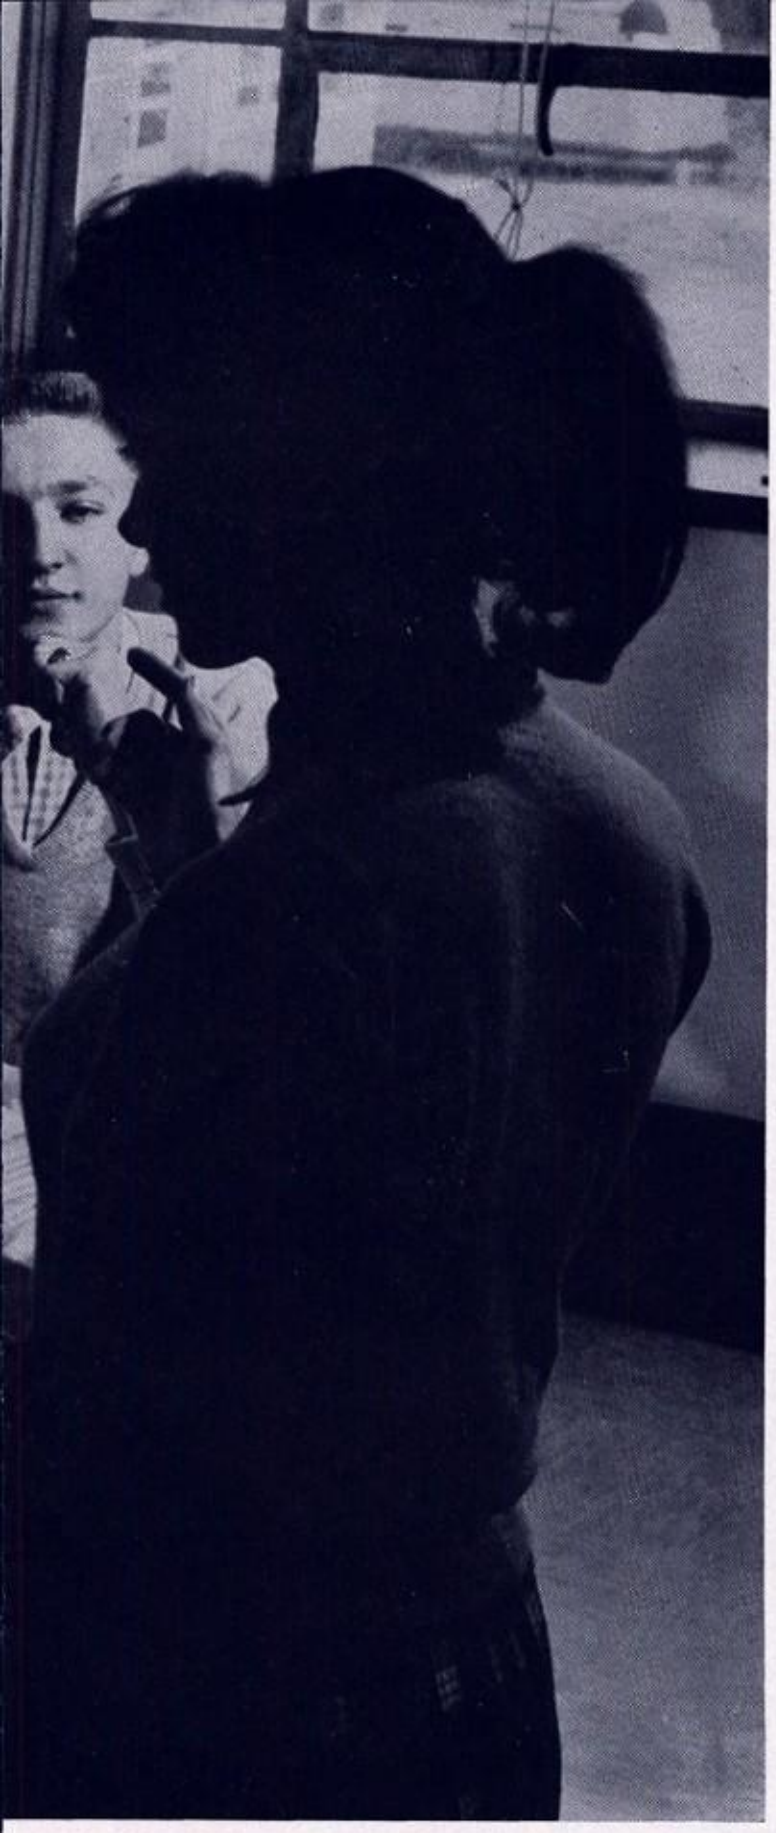
Future homemakers, following the general home economics curriculum, are required to take Home Arts Laboratory 1 and 2, a survey course, in either the freshman or sophomore year. A total of at least six credits must be earned in Clothing 1, 2, 3, 4 and Foods 1, 2, 3, and 4. Home Making 1 and 2, a course which emphasizes selecting the furnishings and equipment of the home together with providing for the care and health of its members, must be taken in either the junior or senior year.

Dresses, suits, and jumpers are major projects of students in advanced sewing. Fashion-conscious senior Diane Payne models for Elaine Larson, Barbara Fronzak, and Mary Lou Daly.

ELECTIVES DEVELOP VOCATIONAL SKILLS, AND PREPARE US FOR COLLEGE.

Niles Township High School's answer to the criticism that modern education is like a cafeteria where students choose subjects without any plan other then that of individual whim is the thirteen courses of study or "tracks". However, students in each curriculum are allowed freedom in choosing major-credit electives ranging from those developing a specific vocational skill to those providing a preparatory foundation for a special area of college study. This freedom is limited by requirement of sequence, aptitude, and the individual's educational and vocational plans.

Art, home design, journalism, photography, physiology, psychology are only a few of the fifty major credit electives which are available to students. Minor-credit electives in glee club, choir, band, and orchestra develop a student's talents and interests and provide a basis for extra-curricular activities.



Being able to speak before an audience is an asset. In a two minute speech, junior Eileen Scott tells her public speaking class about her most embarrassing experience.

Clarinet players Allen Olson, Marcia Wesley, and Pat Hamilton get help on a score of music from the band director, Mr. Provost.

Al Capp and Norman Rockwell—watch out! Betty Porter, Mary Meehan, and Mike Ezsak learn to apply the basic principles of art to their drawings.

"I move that . . . . " "I second the motion." "Is there any discussion?" "Point of order!" "I rise to a point of inquiry!" "I call for an immediate vote!" "I call for the question!"

These remarks ring out in 16B during first period as the Council carries on its many activities. This year the Council was in charge of the Homecoming Parade, a St. Patrick's Day Dance, bus service for the students to "away games", the Big Brother and Sister program, the new Student Lounge, the Citizenship and Code Assembly, and selling programs at various sports events.

At the beginning of the year, each homeroom elects a Council representative and alternate to represent them in the Council meetings and bring up any problems which need to be solved. Council provides the students with an opportunity to speak for themselves and have a voice in the governing of the school, thereby giving them experience in democracy at work.

Officers of the Council, Bill DiGilio (president), David Cleven (vice-president), Mr. Lain (sponsor), and Pat Holm (secretary), discuss important items to be brought up in the Council and direct all formal business meetings.

STUDENT COUNCIL IS DEMOCRACY IN ACTION . . .

Members of the executive board, who are also committee chairmen, work on the agenda for the coming business meeting. Bill DiGilio (president), David Cleven (vice-president), John Meneilley, Carol Constantine, Dennis Caird, Allan Lange, Marcia Pritikin, Mr. Lain (sponsor), Micki Tatman, Jim Tansor, Jane Scheuer, Henry Feuerzeig, Joan Comiano, Betsy Denker, Ann Splinter, Dorothy McDowell, and Pat Holm (secretary).

Judges of the student court are S. Schmidt, J. Erny, J. Linn, B. Koif, D. Payne, R. Prebish, J. Baker, and B. Denker. Students are called before the court for such violations as misconduct in the halls and smoking on school grounds. The court hears the case and decides whether the defendant is guilty or not guilty.

One of the new projects of the Council, the Student Lounge, is in operation during eighth period for all students on the first shift. Looking on while Elaine Pass and Allan Friedman dance are S. Iverson, M. Motis, K. Julian, A. Kaselow, L. Bodritzki, D. Hodgkinson, J. Pitt, B. Rowan, A. Hervi, J. DeVries, and R. Rosenberg.

HI-Y AND TRI-HI-Y AIM FOR GROWTH

Hi-Y, with a membership of one hundred boys, has been an outstanding organization at Niles for nine years. Hi-Y initiated such school activities as the Homecoming Parade; the Junior Citizenship Award, which is given to a distinguished junior boy and girl; the Hi-Y Scholarship, awarded to a deserving senior; and last year put out the first Student Directory, which listed the names and addresses of all students. The club had the honor of having a member, Phil Quigley, elected Youth Governor for the University of Good Government, which is held in Springfield every spring. The real worth of Hi-Y lies in its value to the individual. Honest scholarship, sportsmanship, clean living, and Christian character are the ideals that the Hi-Y hopes will stay with its members when they leave high school.

Nominees for the Hi-Y Citizenship Award, Hal Neimer, Dave Cleven, Doug Wold, JoanComiano, Arlene Atwood, and Pat Baumann, were chosen from the junior class for their Christian character, leadership, service, and citizenship.

Hi-Y has many interesting meetings. Dr. Hartz of the Cook County Medical Board explains to the boys the diagnosis of disease.

F GOOD CHARACTER

The Tri-Hi-Y is affiliated with the Y.W.C.A. This organization has sponsored hay rides, dances, and during the Christmas season held a party for the children in St. Henry's Orphanage. Officers of the club are: Karen Breitzke (worship chairman), Margherita Rask (secretary), Harriet Boyd (president), Judy Lewis (vice-president), and Beverly Wauthier (treasurer).

Singing, laughter, ice cream, candy, and a visit from Santa made the Christmas party complete for the children in Saint Henry's Orphanage. Tri-Hi-Y made this party possible for these children and others like them during the past three years.

Tri-Hi-Y, founded in 1950, is affiliated with the Evanston "Y", but most of its support this year has come from the Skokie Valley Business and Professional Women's Club. Juniors and seniors, who are eligible for membership, were initiated in January at a meeting attended by parents.

Tri-Hi-Y, sponsored by Mrs. Rita Gauer, successfully combines activity and Christian ideals. This year members of the club held a Christmas party for the children of St. Henry's Orphanage, went roller skating at the Playdium in Glenview, and raised money for their organization by making and selling octopii, an eight-legged creature made of yarn. During the year the program committee provided a model, a beautician, and a minister to speak to members.

As proud parents witnessed the initiation, forty-one girls took the pledge to become members of Tri-Hi-Y. The girls listen attentively as President Harriet Boyd lists what is expected of them as members of Tri-Hi-Y.

When the curtain goes up on another smash hit, all the excitement and color of a Broadway opening comes to Niles. In the last minutes before the curtain rises make-up is hurriedly applied, an actor grabs his play book for one last look, the sound effect that didn't work at dress rehearsal is checked and re-checked, and the missing property is thankfully found. In six weeks prior to the great night the assembly room is the scene of lively activity. Properties are gathered from all corners, publicity schemes are worked out, special lighting effects are tried over and over, and make-up crews practice for perfection. Meanwhile, on stage, the cast rehearses each line under Miss Stemp's direction. This year "Cuckoos on the Hearth" and "Timeout for Ginger" were presented.

The two drama organizations are Thespians and Spotlighters. For many students, Spotlighters is the stepping-stone to the honorary Thespian Society. To become a Thespian a student must work at least one hundred hours on dramatic productions. Additional honors can be earned by additional hours of work.

Spotlighter president Donna Vanderwall demonstrates the application of theatrical make-up to Gayle Beckway and Judy Burt.

"Help! Someone, help!" screams Charlotte (Margo Calamaras) as she is threatened by the crazy Professor (Richard Deitsch). Doc Ferris (Barry Schutz) and the Reverend (Tom Conners) stand by showing little emotion over her plight. The scene is from the fall play "Cuckoos on the Hearth."

In the spring play "My Three Angels", a happy ending for Marie (Lynn Watson) and Paul (Doug Wold) horrifies the father, Henry (Wally Bornemeier) but completely satisfies the three convicts (Ron Shabel, Fred Melberg, Bob Schroeder).

AS THE BAND PLAYS ON, OUR SCHOOL

SPIRIT RISES .

Twirlers Barbara Hogan, Jacquie Worthley, Janey Freschke, and Mary Lou Gengler add color to the greyness of Homecoming day.

Most of our hearts beat a little faster with excitement when the Nilehi band, brave in uniforms of gold and blue, struts onto the football field on a golden October afternoon. Our school spirit gets that extra little shove when the band plays "Nilehi! Nilehi!" at pep assemblies and basketball games.

For band members these colorful performances are preceded by hours and days and years of rehearsing. Students in the cadet band practice for one or two years before they are ready to join the varsity group which presents concerts at the township grade schools every February and March. High point of the year's work is the band concert on May 11, when a repertoire of marches, classics, and jazz is presented. This year the program included Finlandia, Cuban Fantasy, and Gypsy Love Song.

Varsity band, directed by Mr. Leo Provost, rehearses two periods a day, fifth and sixth, in preparation for their performances at sports events, grade school tours, and spring concert. Back Row: Mr. Provost, M. Tatman, S. Nelson, P. Kriz, B. Kitch, D. Aull, J. Gould, K. Schiffman, R. Dietch. Third Row: J. Kaplan, L. Leitherer, C. Breen, M. Levine, R. Franz, D. Turner, S. Miller, W. Howard, N. Martin. Second Row: F. Hodges, W. Hanson, J. Mendera, R. Kofoed, H. Sherman, T. Steinhort, D. Metzler. Front Row: B. Oosten, D. Enstrom, A. Raglan, D. Nied, P. Grabow.

Each member of cadet band anxiously awaits the day when Mr. Leo Provost, band director, will say to him or her, "You are now ready for the varsity band." Back Row: J. Tansor, K. Mason, I. Johns, M. Stone, J. Papandrea, G. Goldstein, D. Wicker, Mr. Provost, J. Pauzer, D. Nelson. Fourth Row: A. Canter, R. Dumay, G. Winberg, M. Kuchar, W. Eggert, R. Wanke, H. Lerman, F. Foss, J. Jones, L. Lindquist, F. Herzon, J. Babcock. Third Row: S. Kirschner, R. Genthner, R. Linick, J. Coursey, T. DeVries, J. Miguel, J. Demlow, R. Raben. Second Row: K. Evenson, G. Baverlein, R. Colano, K. Magner, B. Ritter, J. McGinnis, H. Eklund. Front Row: J. Frandzel, R. Krone, W. Gutowsky, V. Burnell.

Mr. Leo Provost, band director, announces the opening selection at the band concert, May 11.

Fifth and sixth period every day, the orchestra, directed by Mr. Hugh McGee, rehearses for performances. Back Row: D. Stollsdorf, S. Erdman, B. Maxson, D. Wold, B. Kitch, D. Aull, M. Tatman, S. Nelson, B. Reinger, C. Fox, G. Fehring, D. Metzler, Mr. McGee. Third Row: N. Cleary, R. Hartley, B. Swinyard, R. Denley, P. O'Neal, B. Halvorson, S. Williamson, D. Mueller, S. Larson, J. Walski, D. Nied, P. Grabow, J. Mendera. Second Row: J. McGinnis, C. Cleary, L. Silverman, R. Caplan, L. Anderson, K. Grubb, I. Sonkin, P. Nelson, S. Schmickl, C. Maculuso. Front Row: R. Keats, A. Larson, B. Oosten, D. Enstrom, M. Wesley, R. Friedman, B. Stine. At the piano: Bruce Robins.

ORCHESTRA AND VOCAL

Eyes on Mr. McGee, the orchestra awaits the downbeat for the number, "Street Scene", at the spring concert.

Members of the orchestra and vocal groups had a busy year rehearsing for "Student Life", the first musical comedy ever to be presented at Niles Township High School. Until opening night on April 27, Friday nights and weekends meant practice, practice, and more practice on selections like "Hernando's Hideaway," "Heart," "Two Lost Souls," and "So In Love." Christmas Vespers, the grade school tour, a PTA meeting, the May Festival, and graduation were other special events at which the orchestra performed. "The Dream of Olwen," "El Relicario," "Blue Moon," and "Street Scene" are but a few of the many numbers the orchestra rehearsed throughout the year.

GROUPS REHEARSE FOR "STUDENT LIFE".

Beautiful gowns and lyrical voices of members of Vivace delighted the audience at the May Festival. This group, directed by Mr. H. McGee, is noted for its lyrical perfection. Back Row: P. Busch, D. Peterson, D. Foley, P. Baumann, F. Budnick, S .Smith, J. Linn, D. Stiska, C. Nelson, C. Joslyn, M. Heppner, F. Marling, D. Donile. Third Row: S. Bell, J. Stockmar, C. Dolan, A. Newton, M. Johnson, M. Dell, J. Comiano, K. Hotchkiss, J. Schultz, J. Gutowsky, J. Nelson, M. Sams. Second Row: B. Kamin, D. Baumann, S. Schuster, G. Mengarelli, C. Schweger, M. Escher, K. Nordlof, G. Bolin, J. Coleman. Front Row: N. Keppeler, J. Burt, J. Piper, S. Crowther, A. Atwood, A. Otiepka, J. Erickson, J. Weissburg, D. Courtright.

Old time barbershop harmony rings out every Tuesday night when this group of ten meets to sing such old favorites as "When You Wore a Tulip." Back Row: B. Gigstad, C. Trendler, B. Robins, L. Wotan. Second Row: D. Guess, M. Malz, D. Peters. Front Row: B. Gutowsky, E. Kezios, B. Piper.

The choir, the most advanced music group, sings "Just Another Polka" under the direction of Mr. H. McGee as Karen Holmberg and Roger Jones dance an accompaniment. Back Row: J. Stockman, J. Schultz, K. Hotchkiss, L. Fogarty, B. Barker, P. Baumann, D. Foley, B. Kenny, P. Quigley, J. Beddia, R. Shabel, B. Gigstad, F. Brill, J. Lotz, R. Simmons. Third Row: J. Burt, B. Lantz, M. Dell, C. Lambert, A. Sussman, O. Thorne.

'56 STAFF

Co-editors Linda Morse and Barbara Neuman discover that planning Reflections 1956 requires careful consideration of pictures.

"No, Mom, I can't help you clean the house. I have to lay out the yearbook dummy today!"

"Is it all right if I'm not in class next Friday? I have to go with the photographer to take pictures for the yearbook!"

"Sorry, I can't go to the show tonight. I have to write copy!"

These excuses are not unusual from a member of the yearbook staff. Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ida McGuire, staff members, who are now juniors and seniors, started planning the 1956 edition of Reflections as soon as the 1955 book had been completed. Homework assignments were laid aside as the co-editors chose the theme—excitement—and organized the yearbook. Outside obligations were ignored as pictures were assigned and received, and copy, headlines, and cutlines were written.

As the deadline date of March 23 drew near, Room 225, fifth period, bustled with last-minute preparations. During spring vacation the staff checked and rechecked the spelling of names, corrected errors in grammar, and inserted the final punctuation marks. Reflections 1956 was sent to the printer. The staff waited until the yearbook banquet and then breathed a sigh of relief: the completed yearbook in their hands was worth all the hard work of producing it.

Chairmen of yearbook sections, Jane Scheuer (activities), Daryl Foley (special events), Nancy Keppeler and Sandy Bruening (seniors, portraits, faculty, administration), Jerry Vick (photography), Karen L. Holmberg (G. A. A.), and Robert White (sports), discuss ways to make 1956 Reflections more interesting to all students.

WORKS ON A BIGGER AND BETTER REFLECTIONS.

Pictures to be used in the 1956 Reflections are selected by first year staff members, Nancy Phillips, Sandra Dragisic, Alan Lange, Roberta Rice, Jay Wollin, Pat Leverenz, Frank Kiszely, Carol Stine, and Debbie Rothholtz.

Students in charge of the senior section, directed by Mrs. Lucille Barnes, organize the taking of senior pictures and the signing of senior activity sheets: E. Cosely, M. Johnson, D. Peterson, C. Johnson, N. Scanlan, K. Breitzke, S. Hagen, E. Sahs, Mrs. Barnes, co-chairmen J. Warnecke and D. McDowell, S. Joyce, and A. Ditthardt.

Mr. Ronald Van Arsdale outlines the magazine sales campaign to members of the yearbook finance staff. This year's successful magazine drive helped solve the financial problems of producing the yearbook. Back Row: D. Krauss, T. Russell, M. Weingart. Sixth Row: D. Courtright, B. Kretschmar, D. Platt, D. Stollsdorf, J. Walski, M. Bjurman, M. Solomon, B. Oosten, G. Humburg, J. Cohan, C. Ricketts, P. Maguire. Fifth Row: N. Knepper, M. Kerr, K. Kent, J. Diebold, C. Stine, J. Comiano, K. Hine, D. Halstead, J. Masters, D. Nelson, P. Cirkle, G. Colussi. Fourth Row: G. Beckway, A. Finzel, S. Bischof, S. Backus, C. Joslyn, J. McGinnis, M. Dell, S. Hagen, F. Budnik, P. Kalmes. Third Row: B. Deitch, M. Dell 'Aringa, J. Schultz, S. Elster, J. Munry, B. Bartholomew, N. Harris, D. Searing, P. Hoppe, C. Monson. Second Row: B. Fisher, D. Rothholtz, B. Stryker, E. Sahs, P. Holm, J. Gutowsky, J. Holtz, J. Hokanson, J. Dahm. First Row: M. Meehan, L. Rose, A. Czermonka, B. Berzon, D. Klinge, B. Porter, G. Hoppe, M. Kamin.

Barbara Neuman (editor-in-chief and sports editor), Barbara McKaig (news bureau chief, Barbara Kitch (feature editor), and Barbara Simon (news editor) look over Nilehilites of previous years, noticing the changes and improvements that have been made.

Reading over and discussing the good and bad points of a February issue of the Nilehilite are Marilyn Escher (circulation manager), Larry Laske (exchange editor), Marcy Pritikin (chief typist), and Judy Burt.

STAFF RECORDS EXCITING EVENTS IN NILEHILITE

A bustling newspaper office filled with students busily reporting the happenings of their high school community—that's the home of the Nilehilite, Room 219, every day during eighth period. The process of getting out the Nilehilite begins on Tuesday when the staff members and Mr. Paul Eberhardt, sponsor, gather in a circle and report the scoops they have gathered from their faculty news sources and tips from friends. The editors assign the important news the following day, and the staff reporters go after the facts so that they can meet the Friday deadline. Letters to the Editor, briefs about alumni, humorous happenings, and stories are handed in to the news, feature, and sports editors, who check them for errors in fact, grammar, and spelling. The stories are typed and sent to the lino-typers, who set them up in type and send galleys back to the staff to be proofread. The editors make up the pages and write headlines, and give the dummied Nilehilite to Mr. Gale Wesley in print shop. The pages are then put to bed and the presses start rolling. The Nilehilite is given to its readers on Friday.

Similar steps are followed by the news bureau chief, who assigns stories every Wednesday. These are edited, typed, and sent to the community newspapers. Reporters see their stories, with bylines, in the papers the following Thursday.

Students whose work is published in Golden Galleon are initiated into the Guild at a dinner held in the spring. Back Row: J. Rossman, C. Borchert, Miss J. Loranger, Mr. W. Bost, Mrs. P. Rice (sponsor), Kay Christiansen. Front Row: M. Walker, T. Glass, J. Brandon.

Under the direction of Mrs. L. Barnes, freshmen scribblers are encouraged to develop their writing talents and to submit material to the Golden Galleon. Back Row: W. Wise, G. Behr, L. Lindquist, A. Blocke, M. Banks, S. Tzinberg. Third Row: R. Raichle, S. Kirchner, G. LaBarbera, D. Dettloff. Second Row: D. Dibos, V. Vernell, J. Eggersted, K. Zuiker, N. Johnson, A. Lane. First Row: J. Wilson, A. Goldsmith, K. Evenson, J. Kublin. Standing: P. Cohn.

GOLDEN GALLEON ENCOURAGES CREATIVE WRITING .

Every Golden Galleon member knows that not even a straight "A" report card, nor scoring the winning touchdown, nor being elected prom queen can surpass the thrill of seeing one's brain child in print. Golden Galleon, a slim literary magazine of some fifty pages, is published yearly by the Golden Galleon Guild. Aspiring authors are asked to submit essays, short stories, poems, or one act plays, the best of which are selected by members of the Guild for publication. The chosen authors are invited to become members of the Guild and are inducted at a formal dinner in June.

Besides encouraging creative writing, this group sponsors social activities which this year included an initiation party on a "Travel" theme, a tea for mothers of members, and a theatre party to see "Tea House of the August Moon." Each year the Guild to see "Tea House of the August Moon." Each year the standing member; last year's winner was Tom Glass.

What a thrilling moment this is for the forty-nine juniors and seniors inducted into the National Honor Society! Three of last year's inductees, Dave Chevrier, Barbara Neuman, and Marilyn Dell, present certificates, roses, and pins to Frank Gorom, Joan Comiano, Linda Morse, Cecilia Belgarbo, Barbara Oosten, Judy Warnecke, Dorothy McDowell, David Cleven, Kaari Kivimagi, Rebecca Barker, Sandra Howard, Karen A. Carlson, Ken Kay, Frank Kiszely, Jay Young, Doug Wold, and Jay Wollin.

OUTSTANDING NILEHIERS MAKE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY.

Only five per cent of the junior and senior classes attain the goal of every student: induction into the National Honor Society. Students in the top twenty per cent of their classes are judged by the faculty on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. On March 16 the chosen juniors and seniors received the coveted invitations to become a member of the National Honor Society.

Parents and friends glowed with pride at the March 22 induction ceremony when new members, wearing shiny gold pins and holding certificates and roses in one hand, lifted their burning candles and recited: "I believe in Character as the foundation of life; in Scholarship as the means to achievement; in Leadership as a worthy aim; and in Service as the object and end of living. To the upholding of these ideals, I now pledge myself, mind and spirit."

The highest honor achieved in high school is to be inducted into the National Honor Society during junior or senior year. Students are chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Seniors who were initiated last year are: B. Schroeder, J. Vick, B. White, M. Dell, B. Halvorsen, R. Nitsche, R. Shabel. Seated: N. Keppeler, B. DiGilio, P. Quigley, J. Lotz, K. Holmberg, D. Chevrier, and B. Neuman. D. Shea is missing from the picture.

Backstage after the induction ceremony, Mrs. Breitzke adjusts daughter Karen's rose while Mr. and Mrs. Wold congratulate their son Doug.

DEBATE TEAM SETS NEW RECORD

The Nilehi debaters left their mark this year as they met thirty-eight Illinois high schools in tournaments and finished their season with an all-time high record of eighty-two wins and fifty-eight losses. Niles was the host at a tournament in which Chicagoland area teams participated and traveled to Lyons Township, La Grange, Evanston, Blue Island, Mendota, DeKalb, and the University of Illinois at Navy Pier for competition. On February 3 and 4 the varsity won seven out of twelve rounds in the annual tournament at Augustana College. The teams, coached by Dr. Betts and Mr. Mattka, are made up of sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Star debater Phil Quigley presents his winning speech at the American Legion Oratorical Contest. Phil was also elected governor of Illinois for the Y. M. C. A. Youth and Government Program held April 19 and 20 in Springfield. He won this honor in competition with students from Hi-Ys of the northern half of the state.

MONITORS AND SEE CHICAGO CLUB ARE TRADITIONAL SENIOR ACTIVITIES

See Chicago Club is the largest senior club in the school: membership is open to any senior interested in exciting trips to see Chicagoland's many wonders. The See Chicago Club also sponsors the spring trip to Washington, D. C., which becomes one of high school's brightest memories for travel-minded juniors and seniors.

Seniors are the backbone of the Student Union and the much-copied monitor system. At the Unions friends have a good time playing pingpong or card games, watching a movie, dancing, or just making the rounds to see who is there. Monitors, who check passes and regulate traffic in the halls, are a familiar sight. The monitor system is as much a part of Nilehi as is the big clock on the first floor.

Washington, we are here! Posed in front of the nation's capitol, juniors and seniors on the spring trip of the See Chicago Club get set for a day of sightseeing. Third Row: P. Jensen, J. Burt, L. Fogarty, B. Kitch, K. Breitzke, J. Mendera, D. Freres, F. McGinnis, Mr. E. Napier, Mr. O. Hendrikson, Miss H. Heitmann, Mrs. J. Hallberg, Mr. J. Hallberg (sponsors), R. Bodinus, R. Simmons, C. Asbiornsen, D. McDowell, S. Bruening. L. Morse, B. Peterson, D. Erickson, N. Keppeler. Second Row: G. Rediffer, D. Trendel, D. Cleven, H. Sherman, D. Urich, P. Joelson, D. Fehns, B. Enke J. Traut, D. Wold, B. Gigstad, B. Robins, B. Eamen, P. Mueller, R. Simpson, W. Johnson, R. Perlick, J. Beddia, K. Swital, A. Manchester, D. Stevenson, D. Reichert. Front Row: J. Renberg, D. Searing, D. Platt, D. Collin, B. Barker, H. Boyd, E. Sahs, E. Cosley, J. Faber, M. Carroll, N. Scanlan, B. Halvorsen, C. Latham, J. Nelson, M. Kamin, P. Topolinshi, M. Tatman, R. Keats, D. Zeutschel, K. Horner, P. Czerwonka, B. Weiss, L. Palmer.

"Now, where shall we go?" The See Chicago Club board answered this question by planning trips to Chinatown and to see "Oklahoma." Standing: J. Beddia, B. Harris, M. Usow, P. Pierce, M. MacLean, Mr. Napier (sponsor). Second Row: B. Waterman, K. Frenzel, M. McMillen, J. Reiter. Front Row: J. Scheuer, D. Peterson, D. Pionke (secretary), D. Payne (president), B. Busch (treasurer).

Under the direction of Miss Lamberg, the monitor board works out the rules and policy for the monitor system. Monitors carry messages, pick up the attendance slips, and check student passes. Standing: B. Allen, T. Freeling, R. Perlick, M. McLean, C. Middaugh, B. DiGilio. Front Row: J. Febel, S. Joyce, L. Izard, B. Blowers, B. McKaig.

The Union Board, sponsored by Miss Lamberg and Mr. Sheahan, plans the Student Unions and keeps the Unions running smoothly. Clockwise: J. Hagman, J. McGinnis, L. Morse, E. Shuman, B. Neuman, B. DiGilio, G. Vick, L. Wotan, B. White, D. Chevrier, G. Mills, F. Marling, B. Busch, J. Febel, M. Dean, J. Lotz. Center: D. McDowell (treasurer), C. Joslyn (president), B. McKaig (secretary).

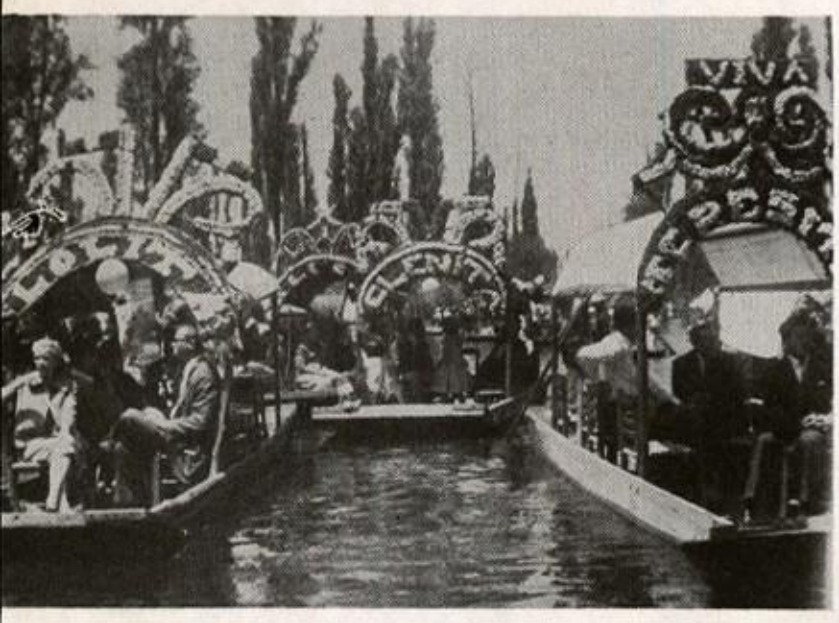
LANGUAGE CLUB

Pat Holm (president), Barbara Larsen (sergeant-at-arms), Cecelia Belgarbo (secretary), Lee Brink (sergeant-at-arms), Mr. Donald Blair (sponsor), Skip Nelson (vice-president), and Lenora McColloch (treasurer) make plans for the sock hop to be given by the Spanish Club.

France, Mexico, Rome, and Germany become familiar to students of foreign languages. This year, once again, members of the Spanish Club traveled to Mexico City where they conversed with natives, observed authentic customs, and toured public buildings. Although looking forward to the Mexico trip, the Spanish Club took time out to sponsor a dance, show movies of Mexico, and have Miss Nora Kuehne, a former resident of Latin America, as a guest speaker.

Members of the Latin Club gave a fashion show displaying Roman costumes and jewelry. Under the supervision of Miss Lamberg and Miss Hind the students made and modeled fashions. Highlighting the activities of the French Club was the trip taken by Mrs. Baker, sponsor, and members of the club to a French restaurant where they experienced French atmosphere and enjoyed the food peculiar to France. German Club members saw a film taken in Germany by a fellow student, Richard Aull. Playing games and singing folk songs typical of Germany also occupied the time at their meetings. On April 6 and 13 a group of students dined at Math Igler's restaurant—sauerbraten and all.

On the annual trip to Mexico, the Spanish students visited the Floating Gardens at Xochimilco.



Admiring a picture of a French cathedral are Marcia Pritikin (secretary), Tom Cooper (vice-president), Beth Hampel (treasurer), and Ronald Prebish (president).

BRING US CLOSER

TO FOREIGN LANDS.

Fashions modeled by Latin Club members Sue Broscoe, Maryanne Swartz, and Pat Cirkle would have won whistles of approval from the ancient Romans.

Elaine Cosley, Judy Schultz, Barbara Oosten, Judy Lewis, and Phil Quigley listen attentively as Jay Young, a member of the Latin Club, reads an ancient scroll.

Miss Gustafson (sponsor), Jay Wollin (sergeant-at-arms), Axel Denk (vice-president), Klaus Schneider (president), and Alice Merwitz (treasurer) look at pictures to be discussed at the next German Club Meeting.

Experiments and lectures build a solid interest in physics. Mike Leptich (vice-president), and Anthony Sloan (secretary) watch as Dave Cleven, president of the Physics Club, demonstrates how to light headlamps.

Exploring the mysteries of life is the aim of the Biology Club. Sponsor Charles Hussey points out a rare butterfly to Sandra Howard (secretary), Larry Messe (vice-president), and Francine Budnik (president).

STUDENTS LEARN BY WORKING WITH

They're not really mad scientists—just very interested members of the Freshman Boy's Science Club. Surrounded by weather instruments made by members of the club, Douglas Spengler conducts an experiment for Douglas Marshall, Lou Janson, and Aaron Bloch. The club is sponsored by Mr. Harvey.

Girls of the freshman science classes have formed their own club to carry on experiments and learn more about science. Secretary Judy Kuhlan takes notes while Miss F. Harrison (sponsor), Betty Stine (president), and Judy Comiano (vice-president) conduct a business meeting.

Interest in a particular field of classroom study is further stimulated by membership in a related club. Science clubs provide a chance for students of all levels to develop scientific knowledge. Freshmen join either the girls' or boys' science clubs, where all fields of science are open to exploration. Sophomores, through membership in Biology Club, study living organisms. First hand information is gained on field trips and in actual dissection of plants and animals. Upperclassmen have experiments and demonstrations of the physical sciences in the Physics Club. Members of the science clubs also work for future rewards such as the Science Fair and college scholarships.

Students of other classes also find it fun to carry their interest beyond the classroom. The Pins and Pans Club gives girls of the home economics classes a chance to whip up their own concoctions and test their designing ability. Many of us wear the blue and gold school collars which they made. Proficiency in typing or shorthand is rewarded in the 100% Club, where members learn of the business world direct from the business man. Members contribute to the By Lines, a paper of the business education department. A common interest in preparing for a career while still in school brought together the members of the Diversified Occupations Club who spend half a day in school and half a day working. At their meetings they discuss their jobs and how to better relations with their employers. All these clubs are more than an outgrowth of the classroom: they are the means by which the student can observe and learn in the way he likes best—working with his own age and interest group.

Officers of the Pins and Pans Club are Linda Wolfson (secretary), Lois Rose (vice-president), Alice Merwitz (president), and Nancy Lotz (treasurer). Pins and Pans, open to all girls in the home economics department, recently had Ruth of Lincolnwood at a meeting to demonstrate hair styling.

OWN AGE AND INTEREST GROUPS.

Membership in the 100% Club requires typing 40 words per minute without error or passing a shorthand test. Sponsored by Miss Immel, the club has guest speakers which tell the girls of the business world. Recently they had a formal initiation dinner for the installation of the following officers: Dorothy Dziadula (vice-president), Dianne Brennan (secretary), Sandy Paul (treasurer), Sandy Dragisic (promotion manager), and Elaine Shuman (president).

Training for their future careers now, the members of the D. O. Club attend school in the mornings and work during the afternoons. It isn't all work, for in the spring they entertain their employers at a dinner. Mr. David Murphy is the sponsor of both the club and the D. O. program at Niles. Standing: D. Reichert (president). Back Row: J. Goushy, B. Thurwell, D. Kohler, C. Maierhofer, J. Pescetto, M. Gross, J. Henrici, J. Crestman. Second Row: D. Blesser, D. Barty, R. Eggert, L. McWherter, C. Slack. Front Row: W. Novak (vice-president), M. Riha (secretary), J. Belaian, and G. Henry.

SERVICE CLUBS CONTRIBUTE TO SMOOTH RUNNING OF NILEHI

"When do tickets go on sale?"

"Have you sold out for Friday's performance?"

Before any football game, play, swim meet or basketball game, the Ticket Sales Club is swamped by such questions. Handling the tickets for Reflections Revelry was a booming business: the seating capacity of the gym is fifteen hundred; the last figures for Reflections Revelry stood at fourteen hundred sold in advance and one hundred sold at the door. Membership in the newly formed club is open to the entire student body.

Arriving at the spring musicale, "Student Life", or "Time Out For Ginger", the spring play, people were shown to their seats by members of the Ushers Club. Open only to junior and senior girls, the club is primarily student-run. However, Miss Dorothy Lungmus, sponsor, does instruct the girls in the proper procedures for ushering and advises them what to wear for the various events.

"Have you bought your ticket for the game?" If not, members of the Ticket Sales Club can help you. Mary Walker, Mr. John Hallberg (sponsor), Beverly Crist, and Wally Bornemeier direct the sales of tickets during lunch periods.

Ushers Club provides girls to usher for school plays, Reflections Revelry, Christmas Vespers, and the spring musicale, "Student Life". Dorothy Collin (junior chairman) and Gail Dent (senior chairman) assign the girls to their posts.

Members of the Visual Aids Operators Club are the only students in the school who are permitted to operate and service the audio-visual equipment. Back Row: P. Mueller, J. Traut, D. Stevens. Front Row: B. Norgan, W. Bornemeier.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Hind, members of Visual Aids Operators Club learn the techniques required for anything from setting up lights to running a projector. Operating the audio-visual equipment for PTA meetings, Booster's Club meetings, pep assemblies, Hi-Y meetings, and night school keeps the boys busy. Eighty percent of the faculty are frequent users of the specialized equipment.

The Welfare Committee, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Lawson and Miss Doris Tillman, campaigns for two worthy causes, the March of Dimes and the Red Cross. The members of this committee are chosen from the group of representatives elected by each homeroom.

By checking books, writing fine slips, and putting books back on the shelves the members of the Library Staff serve their school. Taught by Miss Walker, they learn exactly how a library operates. Membership on this staff is open to girls of all class levels.

Members of the Welfare Committee discuss plans for the annual Red Cross Drive. Represented on this committee are two people from each class level. Back Row: G. Littrell, S. Weiss, N. Scanlan. Second Row: J. Wollin, J. Link, Miss Lawson (sponsor). Front Row: J. Otiepka, N. Harris, R. Shabel.

Giving up their free periods to work in the library, girls on the library staff check books and collect fines. Back Row: E. Johnson, M. Solomon, J. Ringel, J. Gilbert, R. Leger, M. Usow, M. CLUBS DEVELOP WORTHWHILE HOBBIES FOR

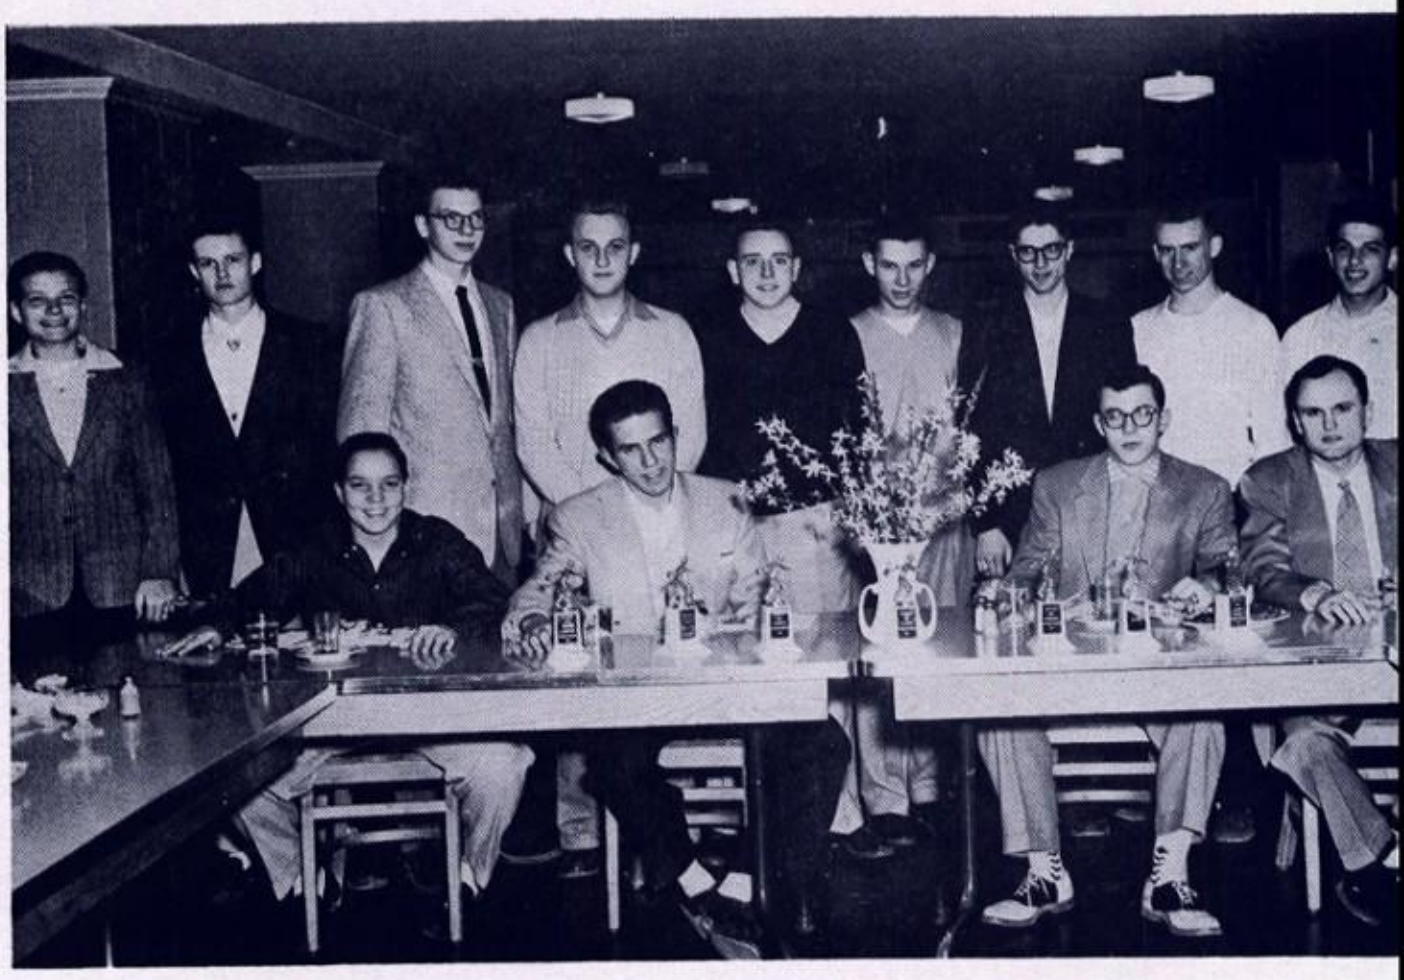
Since twentieth-century man now enjoys greater leisure than ever before because of the limiting of his work week to forty hours, and since this amount of leisure time will continue to increase, the individual needs to develop worthwhile hobbies for recreational hours. This year for the first time students, instructed by Mr. J. Michael, were given an opportunity to learn to play bridge. The Craftsmans Guild, sponsored by Mr. B. Sorenson and Miss J. Oehler, was organized for artistic students interested in leather work and ceramics. An attempt was also made to organize a club for students interested in model railroading, but the group was disbanded, at least temporarily, because of lack of interest. Dr. Mason, who is particularly interested in meeting the recreational needs of young people, has appointed Mr. J. Sheahan to make a study of additional clubs to meet special interests.

Mr. Michael explains to Carol Constantine the technique of the finesse during a bridge game with K. Frenzel, C. Joslyn, and M. Dell. Kibitzing are B. Bartholomew, P. Pierce, Mr. J. Michael (sponsor), E. Pollock, and J. Michael.

Mr. Adams points out the possibility of "castling" to Laurence Ruttenberg during a meeting of the Chess Club. Each year the champion chess player is determined through round robin tournaments. Back Row: L. Ruttenberg, Mr. G. Adams (sponsor), J. Stout, R. Rosenberg, R. Grandberg. Middle Row: A. Berberick, A. Bloch. Front Row: R. Kofoed, S Pearson.

LEISURE HOURS



After a successful season, the members of the bowling teams held their annual spring banquet. Standing: Denny Williamson, Chuck Richards, Ron Furtak, Tony Slone, Mike Leptick, Dick Young, Harvey Sherman, Boll Bell (third high bowler), and Gene Brodsky. Seated: Howie Gordon, Gary Friedman (first high bowler), Al Martin (second high bowler),

Not all teen-agers are interested in such modern hobbies as hot rods; members of the Astronomy Club are fascinated, as man has always been, by the mystery of the heavens. President Joe Stout explains the workings of a telescope to club members. Standing: D. Turner, M. Singer, R. Guess, T. DeVries, J. Gould, C. Cleary, G. LeBarbera, M. Mattenson, J. Piell, R. Zuber, J. Gear. Seated: M. Escher, J. Frandzel, R. Bourgerie, Mr. Botthof (sponsor), R. Kofoed (secretary), T. Stark (vice-president).

Marconi had nothing on the members of the Radio Club! They learn transmitting and telegraphing as well as picking up stations all over the world. Listening to a foreign station are: M. Levine (vice-president), J. Schmidling, J. Kinsey, L. Weiss, D. Virnich, P. Jensen. Seated: W. Meneilley (secretary), T. Straley (president), S. Allen, G. Sorenson.

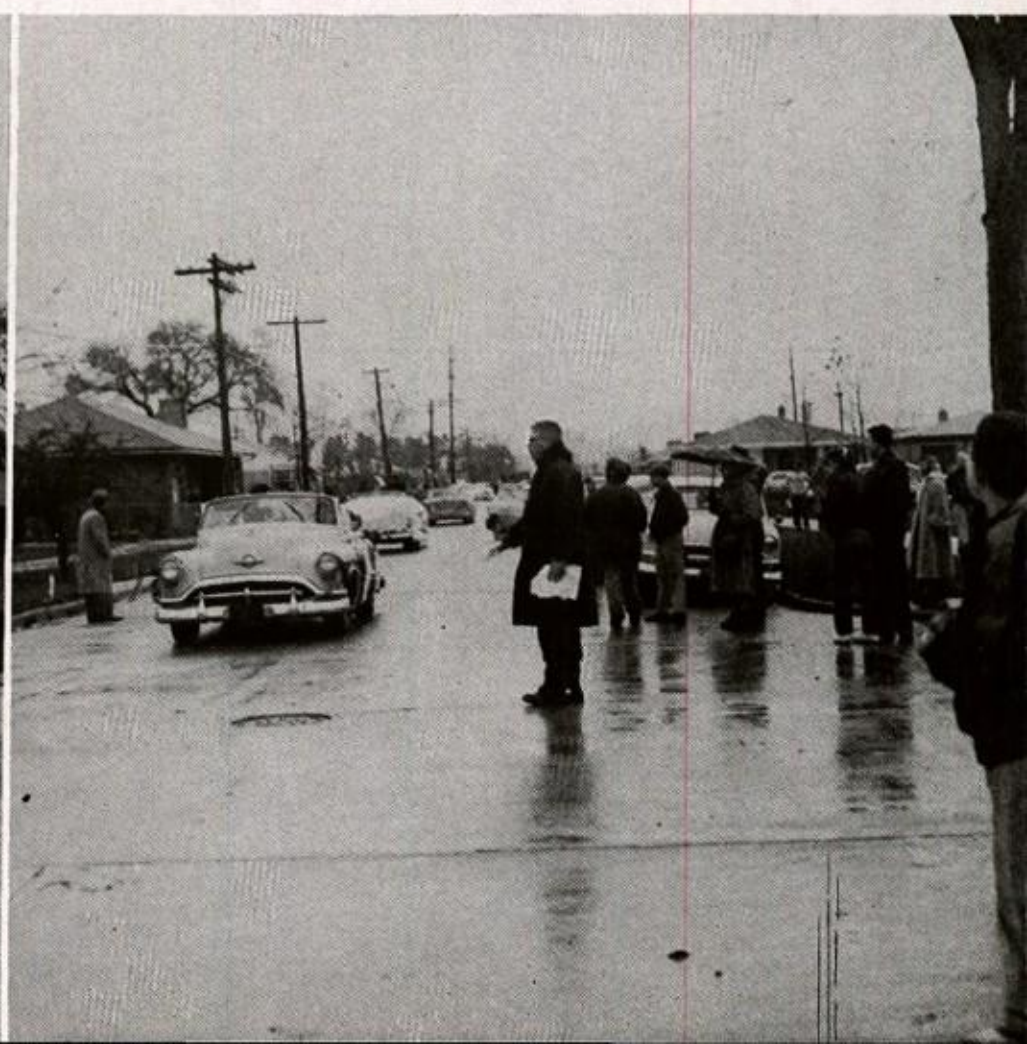
"Though other nights and other days will find us on our separate ways"—we will have the Prom to remember. Bob White helps Diane Peterson from the car to a magic night of dancing at the Palmer House.

Prize-winning float was the "N" Club's green dragon. Enjoying their victory are Sandy Bruening, Nancy Keppeler, and Nancy Harris.

HOMECOMING PARADE AND THE KICKOFF ARE HIGH POINTS OF AUTUMN . . .

Gail Dent, Merle Hendrickson, Barbara Busch, Kathy Krause, Barbara McKaig, Mary Kohls, and Bette Vosnos, members of homeroom 208-5A, add color to the gloom of the day.

"Come On! Keep Going!" Mr. T. Schubert keeps the traffic moving, as the parade gets under way.



"OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY" . . .
BUT OUR FEET WERE WET!

The misty, rain-soaked day of Homecoming is something our young hearts will never forget. At six in the morning we are up to put the final touches on our floats. Cries of "Watch out! It's falling!" drown out the wham of hammers. Finally, amid "ohs and ahs," the float is set to go. The hurrying, scurrying to get started and the hustle, bustle of trying to find our driver fills us with anticipation. Now all we have to do is wait.

The parade begins! A blur of brilliant colors whizzes past our eyes while the "rat, tat, tat, tat, tat" of the Woody Woodpecker float beats on our ears.

After the parade has ended and the prizes are awarded to the "N" Club for first place, and to senior homeroom 208-5A for second, we rush to the football field to watch the struggle between Niles and Oak Park. Banners wave, yells of "Come on team—fight! fight!" rise from the crowd huddled under blankets for protection from the driving rain and wind. Warmed by steaming hot coffee, we cheer on the team until the final whistle. Score—20 to 20!

The game over, we dash home to pin up our straggling curls for the glorious evening ahead. Nine o'clock finds us drifting to the strains of "Tenderly" in an autumn-decorated gym colorful with corn shocks and pumpkins. Then, twelve o'clock strikes and Homecoming '55 is over.

Cutting through the line in the game against Oak Park, fullback Lenny Miresse plows down the muddy field.

During intermission at the Homecoming Dance, Bill Pegausch gives Sandy Paul, Frank Kiszely, Nancy Colletti, Terry Moore, and Barbara Thompson a first hand account of the afternoon's game.

"Silent Night, Holy Night" . . . Members of the music department presented the annual Christmas Vespers on December 18. This year, for the first time, a tableau interpreting a Christmas theme, composed by Mrs. Parepa Rice, was used with dramatic effect.

"WE'RE DREAMING OF A WHITE CHRISTMAS", PARTIES, AND HOURS OF SLEEP . . .

The Christmas season is here again! Joyous strains of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," ring through the halls as the music department practices feverishly for the spectacular Christmas Vespers. Whether we are the audience or the performers, the splendor of this production on December 18 awakens our long-forgotten Christmas spirit. The audience is quiet, and the singing begins; never before has Christmas music sounded more beautiful then when Niheli voices blend in the beautiful melody of "Silent Night."

Filled with Christmas spirit, we celebrate the Yuletide season with parties in our homerooms. Fudge and Christmas cookies are munched, while grab bag gifts are excitedly torn open between stanzas of "Joy to the World." Those urgent book reports and tests forgotten, we concentrate completely on having a marvelous time.

With school over at last, we look forward to two weeks of fun and festivity. Outstanding memory of the Christmas season was the Belles and Beaux Cotillion. Here a winter wonderland was made reality by the silhouette of the horse-drawn sleigh, and by the big evergreen-draped doorway on which we labored so long. Although "I'll See You in My Dreams" echoed through the partially emptied gym all too soon, we looked forward to hours and hours of sleep and a white Christmas!

Nancy Keppeler and Lenny Miresse catch the spirit of Christmas from the pine-scented air and the Winter Wonderland music of the Belles and Beaux Cotillion.

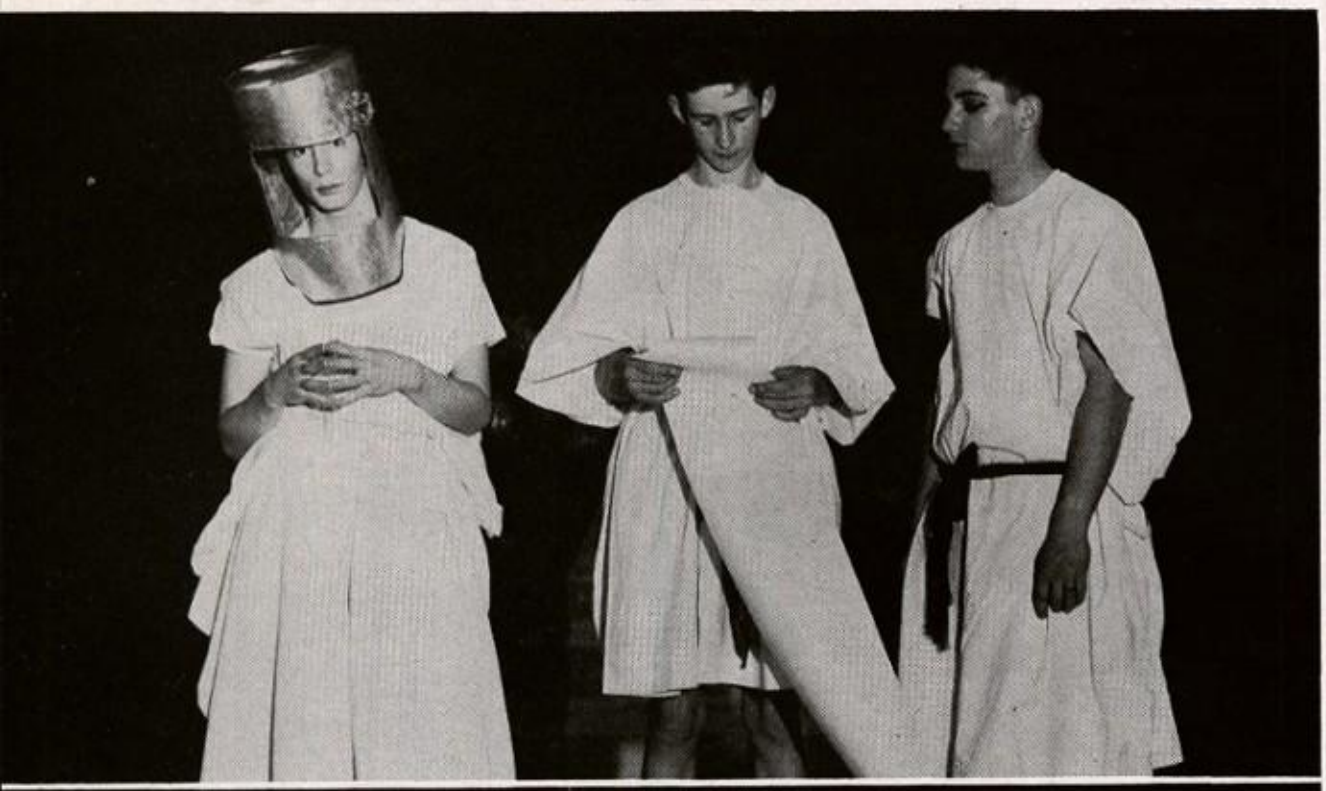
TROJAN TRUMPERIES PLAYS TO STANDING



Helen of Troy (Margo Calamaras) rules over the 1956 Trojan Trumperies surrounded by her court of entertainers: Susy Schuster, Ann Ide, Jill Linn, Karen Holmberg, Arleen Atwood, Carol Schweger, Ronald Raben, and Harvey Sarnat.

Jerry Adams reads the 64,000 lira question to contestant George Grist under the watchful eye of announcer Dick Shutan in a take off on the $64,000 Question of TV fame.

Lion hunting holds no terrors for Cecelia Belgarbo, Gayle Beckway, Carol Stine, and Joan Comiano—or so they say in their song and dance number.

OOM ONLY . . .

Frank Milazzo, drummer in Twilighters band, gets the Max Factor treatment from Pat Holm.

If the ancient Trojans were thrilled by the Greek production of the Wooden Horse, then Trojan Trumperies, the 1956 Nilehi talent show, would certainly have made Hector's Palace! With a program ranging from the satire of the 64,000 Lira Question, the mad music of the "Crazy Little Mama" quartet, to the piano solo of Douglas Wold, and the brilliantly costumed dance of Karen Homberg and Susie Schuster, students at Nilehi proved again that not all the talent is in New York and Hollywood. All the hours of rehearsing, all the anguish of knocking knees and shaking hands are forgotten as the house lights dim, the footlights go on, and the curtain rises on Reflections Revelries of 1956!

CURTAIN RISES ON FIRST MUSICALE, STUDENT LIFE

With a blare of trumpets and a whirr of drums, the overture begins; the house lights dim. And so, on April 27 and 28, the school gymnasium became a lively college sorority house as the curtain rose on Student Life, the first musical ever to be produced at Niles and in the community.

The show opened with the members of the choir marching through the audience, singing the song "Student Life." The audience held its breath while the villains, played by Ron Shabel and Marilyn Dell, tried to break up the romance of Phil Quigley and Carol Schweger. Watchers sympathized with Arlene Atwood as she tried to stop her boy friend, Bob Martin, from flirting with all the pretty girls on campus. They laughed at Joan Gutowsky's efforts to keep Bob Piper from studying all the time even on dates. The Orchestra and Girls' Glee provided a musical background for the production.

Seniors Donna Vanderwall and Bob Martin were the co-directors; Karen Holmberg was the choreographer. Mr. Hugh McGee was the musical director and advisor.

"It's Almost Like Meing in Love" sing leads, Carol Schweger and Phil Quigley.

Members of the make-up crew, Mimi Stone, Judy Comiano, and Betty Stine, apply eye make-up to Liz Hiby, Warren Hanson, and Ernie Kezios.

Sorority girls at Northern, Becky Barker, Gloria Mengarelli, Liz Hiby, Pat Baumann, and Sarane Crowther, relax and listen while Diane Payne reads to them.

Leads Bob Martin and Arlene Atwood dance a soft-shoe routine, singing "Thou Sweet, Thou Witty."

"I'm afraid of all dogs!" explains mailman Warren Hanson to Arlene Atwood.

Elaine Shuman, JoAnn Lots, Sandra Bruening, and Barbara Neumat. campaign for their candidate for prom leaders in the annual parade which precedes the voting.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM . . .

"What color is your dress?" . . .
"Who's your date? . . .
"I hope he sends an orchid." . . .
"How much does it cost at the Chez Paree?" . . .

Finally, after months of anticipation, June 1, the night of nights, arrives. After hours of combing our hair, polishing our shoes, hunting for a lost earring or cufflink, we're ready to slip into a fluff of tulle or the formal whiteness of our rented tuxes. And then the dream becomes a reality as we enter the grand ballroom of the Palmer House where a mist of pink, yellow, and powder blue formals makes a rainbow of color. We swing and sway to the music of Russ Carlisle . . . applaud the presentation of the prom leaders . . . enjoy the crush of the grand march. Then, on to the Chez Paree or the Boulevard Room! Before we know it, a glance at our watches reveals the time . . . three o'clock in the morning!

The night may be over, but we greet the dawn with a breakfast party with our friends. When the last strip of bacon is gone and we have completely hashed over the night spots we touched, we're ready to change to shorts and bathing suits for a lazy day relaxing in the sun and swimming at Lake Geneva or Crystal Lake. Then, "sunset and the evening star" and one more glorious memory . . .

Jack Hagman, president of the Junior Cabinet, and JoAnn Lotz congratulate Kay Christiansen and Jerry Best, leaders of the 1955 Prom.

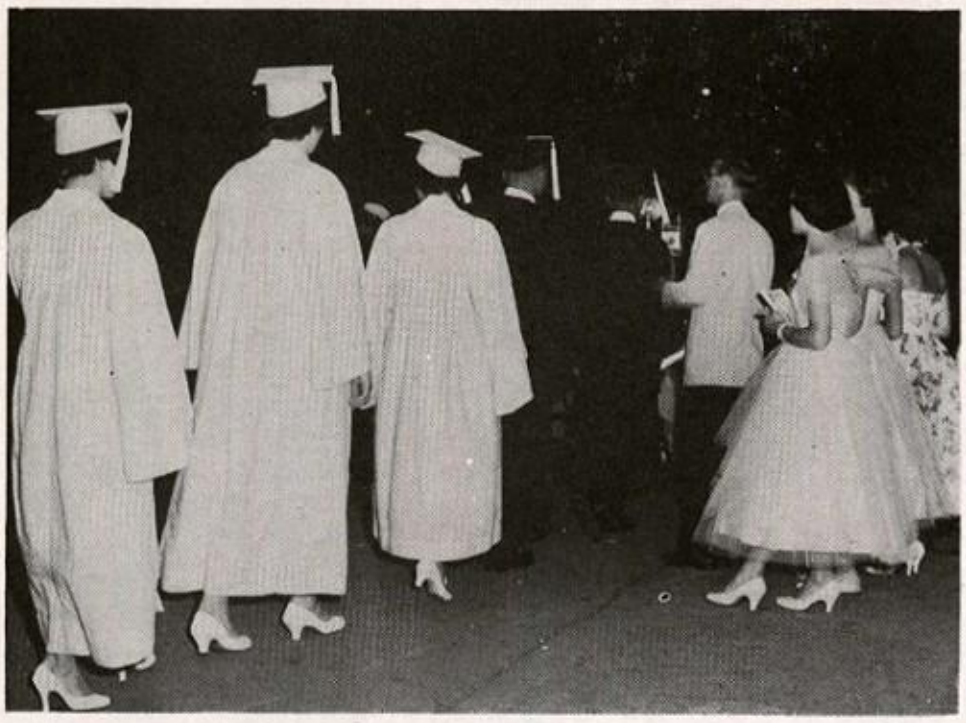
Such a wonderful time! The prom is over, but with the night still young, Harold Hite, Diane Nelson, Bill Dastic, and Julie McGinnis go on to late suppers in hotels and homes.

. . . THE JUNIOR PROM!

Caryl Bristol, Don Kneisel, Kay Christiansen, Jerry Best, Diane Donile, Dave Krause, Anna Otiepka, and Fred Melberg lead the Grand March at the 1955 Prom.

Miss M. deBooy, assisted by Fred Melberg, presents scholarship awards to Barbara Kamin, Cindy Berquist, Dolores Renberg, and Janet Wahlen at the senior breakfast. This year, for the first time, because of the increased number of graduates, breakfast will be served in the gym.

To the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" we procede down the aisle, realizing at last the meaning of graduation—the end and beginning.



SENIORS LEARN THE MEANING OF "PARTING IS SUCH SWEET SORROW"

The familiar walls, our friends and parents, and the choir singing at graduation bring a lump to our throats as we wait to receive our diplomas.

Four splendid years at Niles are over. Never again will we be the bewildered freshman, the sophisticated junior, the composed senior; never again will we race down the hall as the bell is ringing or wildly cheer our basketball team on to victory. The class of '56 realizes at last that four years has not been such a long time, after all.

The last few months before commencement are a whirl of preparation. Some of us write a skit for the senior breakfast; others search our classmate's personalities to complete the class will; still others complete plans for the future.

When the long awaited and dreaded day of graduation finally dawns, we flock excitedly to the breakfast, held in the gymnasium, for a last exchange of laughter and tears with classmates. Afterwards, beneath a hot June sun, we practice the processional for the thrilling moment ahead.

Twilight . . . a sliver of a moon . . . the scent of red roses . . . the swish of white robes . . . we begin the processional to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." Under the flickering star, in our white or blue caps and gowns, we march down the aisle toward the platform. A lump swells in our throats. We are torn between two emotions: sadness at leaving our high school friends and Niles, our daytime home for the past four years, and excitement over the unforseen future. At last, we hear Mr. Ohlson call our name and step foreward to receive our diploma. The future—careers, college, and marriage—lies ahead!

Patricia Bartholomew receives her diploma and congratulations from Mr. Harold Ohlson, Mr. Leo Bushey, president of the Board of Education, and Dr. Joseph Mason, superintendent.

Classmates and friends congratulate one another after the ceremony. Charles Holler wishes Arlene Haubrich "good luck."

Competing is Exciting . . .

WE CHEER OUR
TEAMS IN VICTORY AND DEFEAT!

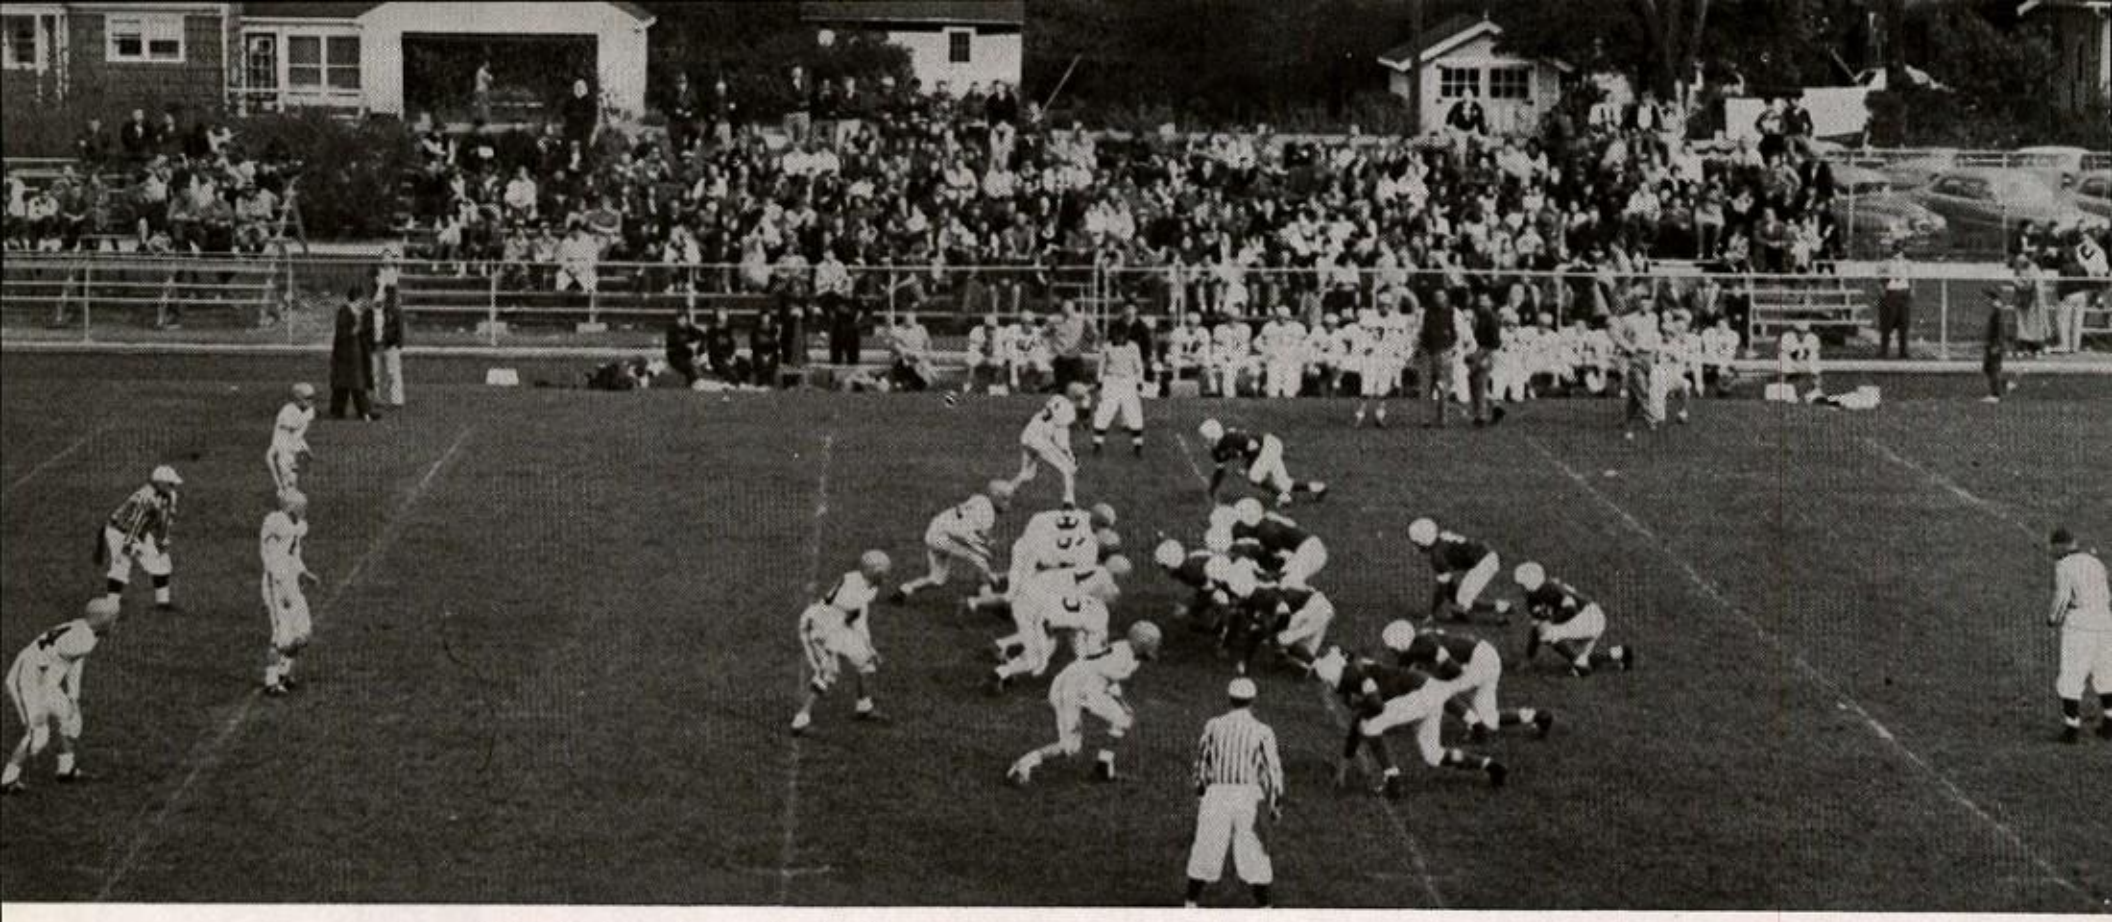
Rog Peterson (46) hooks the ball over the outstretched fingers of Evanston defender Dave Tremaine while John Peterson (50) of Evanston watches helplessly.

All eyes on the game! Just as tense as the players, the varsity bench prays that the free throw will be good in order to tie the score.



The Trojans tense to "hold that line" against the Highland Park gridders. The effective Trojan defense, which enabled Nilehi to defeat Highland Park 32 to 6, was the secret behind a winning record this year.

The Niles players pursue the Bremen Township fullback in the opening game of the season. The slowness of the Bremen attack is indicated by the final score, 31 to 13.

OUR SPIRITS RISE WITH FIRST LEAGUE WIN . . .

Halfback Len Miresse (7) cuts around right end for yardage in the homecoming game against the Oak Park Huskies. The hard-fought game ended in a 20 to 20 tie.

For the first time in many years, Nilehiers had good reason to cheer when their team trotted onto the football field No longer were they the underdogs, an easy victory for other Suburban League squads. This year's Trojans were not only a fighting team; they were a winning team. Under the watchful eyes of their coaches, Mr. Basrak, Mr. Odlivak, and Mr. Lain, the team gave a clue of better things to come in the first game of the year as they pounded Bremen Township, a team which did not lose another game all year, 31 to 13. Unparalleled excitement raced through the community when the Trojans rolled over Proviso, 13 to 0, for the first Suburban League win in four years. A 32 to 6 victory over the Highland Park Little Giants, another step toward the goal of a winning season, was led by the four touchdown total of high-scoring Trojan halfback Len Miresse. Together with the first Suburban League win came another first for Niles. Ron Hein, outstanding Trojan guard, was picked for the All-State team.

Good coaching makes good football teams. Mr. Odlivak (line coach), Mr. Basrak (head coach), and Mr. Lain (end coach) brought the Niles Varsity Football Team a long way along the victory trail.

Bruce Reinger's attempt to gain yardage against the New Trier squad was doomed to failure. Quarterback Ken Walter (5) runs up to lead interference in the ill-fated venture. The Trojans were defeated by a strong New Trier team, 20 to 6.

Mud and Oak Park defenders failed to stop Bill Pegausch as he ground for a first-and-ten in the Oak Park game. Running interference are Gary Mills (75) and an unidentified Trojan.

TEAM SPIRIT MOUNTS AS EARLY SLUMP HALTS.

The final quarter of each game proved to be the downfall of the Trojans as they lost to eight of their first nine opponents. The Trojans snapped out of their seven-game losing streak by defeating Evanston 48 to 44 and downing Waukegan 51 to 49. The first-place Proviso Pirates had to put up a battle the following weekend to keep the Trojans down, but the team bounced back to revenge a sudden death defeat earlier in the season at the hands of Highland Park by beating the Little Giants 69 to 50. The Trojans had finally become a team! With their new spirit they easily slashed Morton's seven-game winning streak.

The season closed with a victory over Waukegan for the second time. The team finished in fifth place with a record of seven wins and eleven losses under the coaching of Mr. Sheahan. Leading the team in rebounding and scoring, Trojan center Dale Kaiser ranked as the second high scorer in Suburban League competition and was placed on the area's all star teams.

YOUNGER TEAMS HIT THEIR STRIDE

The frosh-soph team had a successful season under the coaching of Mr. Phipps. After losing their first three games, the Trojans bounced back to win the next nine out of thirteen games with a five game winning streak in the midst of these wins. Of their seven losses during the season, five games were lost by only one point and the remaining two were lost by less than seven points. The team tied Evanston for second place in the League with their nine won and seven lost record.

The Junior Varsity team met rough competition this year as shown by their record of four wins and nine losses. Most thrilling part of the season was their overwhelming victory over Waukegan by a score of 70 to 48. All the boys played hard under Mr. Sheahan's coaching, but Bill Pegausch and Larry VanMersbergen, high scorers, did especially fine work.

Although the Frosh squad's record of five wins and twelve losses was not a good one, they showed fight and good team work under the coaching of Mr. Hoosline and Mr. Basrak. After losing their first ten games, the frosh beat Highland Park to set off a four-game winning streak. The high spot of the season came when they swamped Glenbrook 68 to 13.

Free throws can be the difference between a win or a loss. Bill Pegausch, coached by Mr. Sheahan, illustrates the correct form of shooting free throws to the junior varsity team. Standing: F. WRESTLING TEAM TAKES TEN OUT OF FIFTEEN MATCHES.

This year's Trojan wrestling squad finished with an outstanding record of ten wins, four losses, and one tie. Victories included a tough opening match win over Leyden, a shutout against North Chicago, the third shutout in the school's history; a close decision over a good Arlington team; and a tie with one of the strongest teams in the state, Waukegan. Deserving of special mention are Henry Feuerzeig, who finished the season with a thirteen win, two loss total; Ed Jaster, who came from the ranks of the frosh-soph team and finished third in the sectional; and Jim Esbrook and Len Miresse, who won in the sectionals and went to the state finals, where Len won a fourth place, being the first wrestler from Niles to place in the state.

The frosh-soph team defeated such rugged opponents as Maine, Palatine, and Glenbrook. Under Mr. Odlivak, the team also beat North Chicago and Highland Park. Glenn Kuehn was the outstanding member of the frosh-soph team.

SWIM TEAM TIES FOR NINTH PLACE IN STATE MEET.

This year's varsity swim team won crushing victories against Leyden, Riverside-Brookfield, and DeKalb. The team also supplied many thrills with a close, hardfought victory over the Proviso tanksters and looked good even in defeat against strong Maine, Waukegan, and Morton squads. The team also tied for ninth in the state meet at New Trier on the basis of the 200-yard medley relay team which set a new school record. Looking especially good this year were Doug Stryker and Bill Yant. Bill set a new school backstroke record of 1:10.6.

The frosh-soph team, closing with a record of four wins and seven losses, swamped Leyden 57 to 19, and drowned both Riverside-Brookfield and Morton by identical scores, 55 to 22. Showing promise were Burton Feingold, who finished fourth in the Suburban League breaststroke, and Dave Oakes, a backstroker.

The Varsity Baseball team set their sights on a winning season and the Suburban League crown. Back Row: Mr. Phipps (coach), D. Chevrier, T. Nelson, L. Breden, J. Rice, T. Pristash, H. Neimer, B. TROJAN TEAMS SET SIGHTS ON CHAMPIONSHIPS

Excellent pitching, fine fielding, and good hitting combined to bring Niles one of its best baseball teams in years. Goal of the team was the Suburban League championship, and the future looked bright as this book went to press. with a pair of victories over Waukegan (8 to 4 and 5 to 3), a slugging triumph over Evanston (12 to 3), a hard-fought win over Proviso, last year's champions (3 to 2), the team was well on its way. The highlight of the season, however, was an opesing game win over Palatine, 6 to 0, in which Ken Walter and Hal Neimer combined to hurl a no-hitter. As well as these fine pitchers, Rog Whitsett, Bruce Reinger, Bill Pegausch, and Bill Ihne have been doing a commendable job under the coaching of Mr. Phipps.

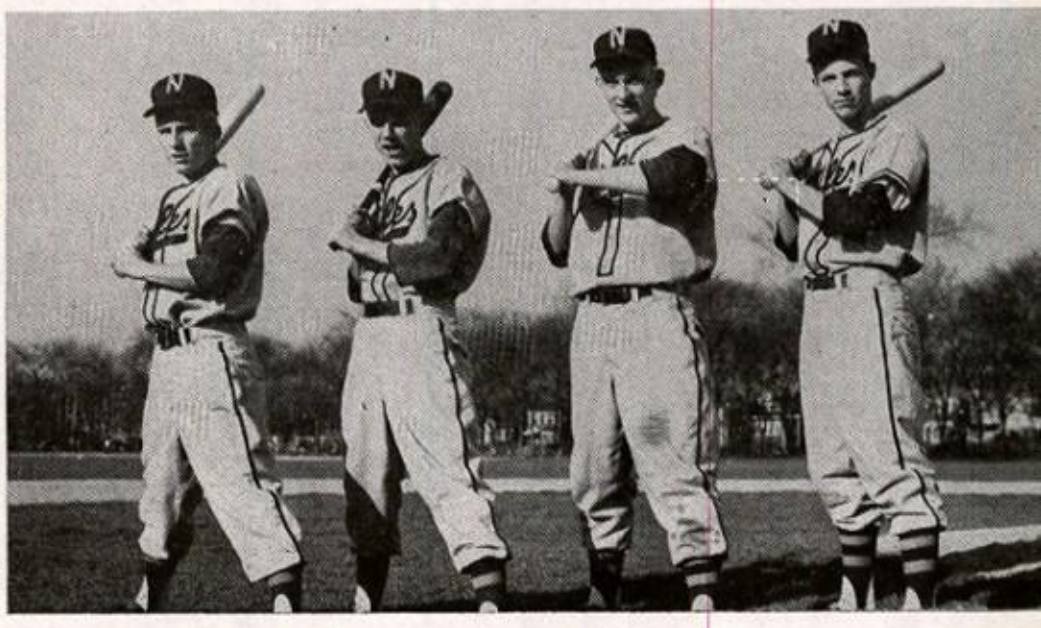
Responsible for many of Niles victories was the pitching of Ken Walter, Hal Neimer, and Rog Whitsett.

Hits win baseball games. Bill Pegausch, Bruce Reinger, Ted Pristash, and Bill Ihne collected many of the hits needed.



Ron Chez, who doubles as a pitcher, tenses to lay down a bunt during frosh-soph baseball practice.

The frosh-soph squad started out the season right by winning two of their first three games They defeated Glenbrook, 11 to 8, and Arlington, 5 to 2. Their single loss came at the hands of Evanston, 6 to 0. Ron Chez, Jerry Keidel, and John Dragisic have been particularly outstanding. Coached by Mr. Hooseline, the team has rough encounters ahead against New Trier and Oak Park.

The freshman baseball team, under the direction of Mr. Schubert, is looking forward to a successful season. A win over Evanston, 6 to 1, in the first league game of the year was the accomplishment of these underclassmen. A loss to Arlington, 4 to 1, has served notice that other rough games against foes like Morton and Proviso may be ahead.

Success of the frosh-soph baseball team seemed assured as they won two of their first three games. Back Row: A. Maurizi, A. Johnson, D. Brie, J. Dragisic, B. Fyfe, J. Keidel, L. Hoosline (coach). EXPERIENCE BRINGS VICTORIES!

The serve is good! The ball is smashed over the net by varsity tennis star, John Whitehead.

With four returning lettermen, three juniors and a sophomore, the varsity tennis team started the season with a bang. In their first game they swamped Arlington Heights 5 to 0 and went on to beat Glenbrook 4 to 1. The following week Maine had a hard time holding the Trojans down by a score of 3 to 2. The Trojans then bounced back to defeat Waukegan and Proviso in their first two Suburban League encounters, which tied them for first place in the League. The Trojans also played a Suburban League meet at Oak Park and a district meet at Evanston. Coched by Mr. Sheahan, they had their sights set on that first place trophy in the Suburban League.

Not to be overshadowed by the successful varsity, the frosh-soph team, also coached by Mr. Sheahan, was victorious in four of their first five matches. Arlington Heights, Glenbrook, and Maine were swamped by the Trojans. Waukegan defeated the Trojans, who came back to smash Proviso 4 to 1. The team, composed of three freshmen and six sophomores, is looking towards that frosh-soph Suburban League crown this year.

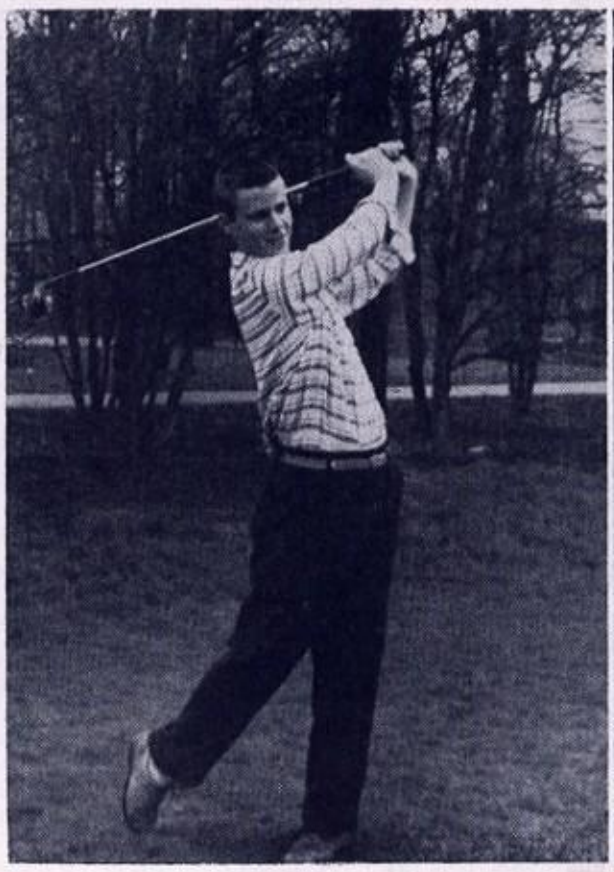
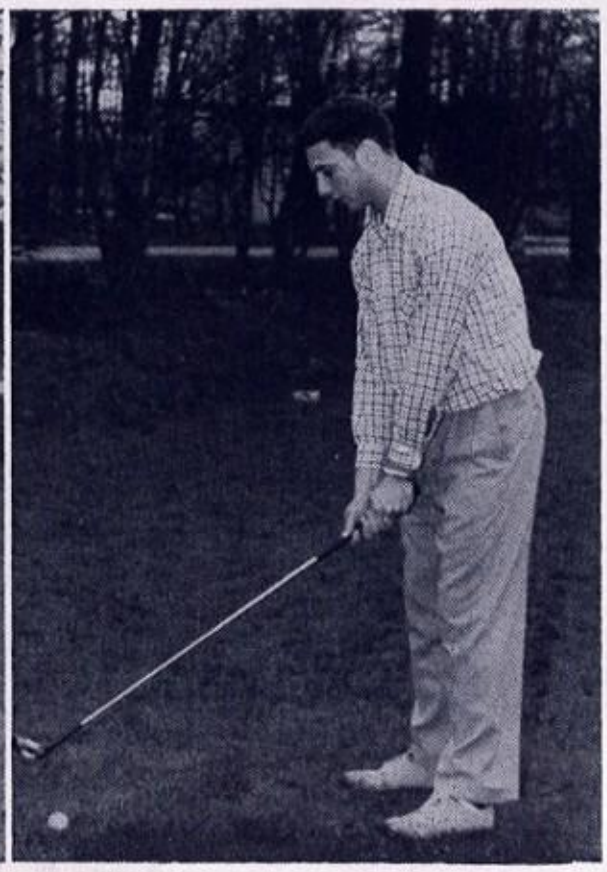
GOLFERS TEE OFF AT ARLINGTON . . .

The golf team practices and plays regularly at Arlington Country Club. Their schedule included meets with Palatine, Oak Park, Arlington, Leyden, Proviso, New Trier, Glenbrook, North Chicago, Waukegan, Maine, Evanston and Morton. To qualify for the golf team, prospects must participate in an elimination round in which the top seven scores determine the regular members of the squad. Those who did not qualify in the elimination round can challenge and defeat one of the seven selected members to win a place on the team. Ineligibilities have cost the squad several good golfers, but the excellent turnout of freshman and sophomore golfers improved the team's prospects.



With a smile of satisfaction, Bruce Peterson smashes his drive down the middle of the fairway.



Using his four wood for a rather difficult fairway shot, Joel Febel begins his backswing.

Unheralded because of the successful football season were the efforts of the cross-country teams. Cross-country, an outgrowth of track, is a two mile race. The varsity team, like the football squad, won their first league meet this year, beating Morton. The frosh-soph, not to be outdone, took a meet from the Leyden tracksters. Consistent winners were Dave Wilson and Don Peters, who took twelfth place in the Suburban League meet. The spirit of the squads was high, but the number of boys participating was low.

TRACK

The track team started on the road to victory this season. Although the varsity have not had any team wins as yet, they have two strong prospects for downstate. One is senior Jack Hagman, who has broken the school record for the shot-put, setting a record of 47' 2". In addition, he is only four inches short of the school record for the discus throw. The other is senior Dave Wilson, a fast half-miler, who also ran a leg of the mile relay team with Dick Rosenfield, Ken Zahn, and Ron Conrad. The varsity is coached by Mr. Harmon, who was helped this year by Mr. Byram and Mr. Marcus, practice teachers.

The frosh-soph have won two triangular meets already, beating Highland Park and Waukegan in one, and North Chicago and Morton in another. With 39½ points in the big Lake Shore meet, they placed third. Outstanding was Frank Fortuna, sophomore, who is already beating the varsity in the dashes and quarter mile. With a strong team and good coaching by Mr. Hussey, the frosh-soph piled up their best record in many years.

Gary Krauss and Dick Pankey clear the low hurdles in a close heat.

Soaring over the high jump bar in good form is Bill Zuber.

Tom Baumann, Dave Wilson, Ken Zahn, and Dick Rosenfield compose the varsity mile relay team.

It's up and over for pole vaulter Dick Aull.

"N" CLUB AIMS TO DEVELOP GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

The "N" Club, which is open to all boys who have won a major letter in sports, is largely responsible for promoting better relations between the faculty and the athletes, and between the athletes and the students. The "N" Club sponsors many activities, among which are the "N" Club-Faculty basketball game, which the teachers won this year; the selling of candy in the stands during the basketball games this winter; ushering at various athletic events; and the "N" Club initiation, which is the induction of the new members into the club. For the second time in as many years, the "N" Club's float won first prize in the Homecoming parade. The club meets two times each month under the sponsorship of Mr. Byram, Mr. Kiviluoma, and Mr. Odlivak.

Mr. B. Welch, Mr. J. Palmer, Mr. W. Bost, Mr. J. Phipps, Mr. C. Markus, and Mr. D. Wright seem totally disinterested in the cheering of Mrs. L. Moran, Miss B. Ray, and Miss H. Heitmann during the annual "N" Club-Faculty game.

CHEERLEADERS KEEP NILEHI'S SPIRIT "RED HOT"

"Hey, hold that line! Hey, hold that line!" shout varsity cheerleaders Linda Morse, Alva Sholin, Jo Ann Lotz, Beth Williamson, Cynthia Johnson, and Lynne Izard at the game against Amundsen.

At the special assembly held after our first football win at Proviso, the varsity cheerleaders Jo Ann Lotz, Linda Morse, Beth Williamson, Alva Sholin, Cynthia Johnson, and Lynne Izard give out with a "Trojan Yell."

At the close of the winter sports season, players and cheerleaders were guests of honor at a banquet. In recognition of the cheerleaders' success in keeping Nilehi's spirit "red hot", the girls were presented with awards. The outstanding performance of the cheerleaders which merited this recognition was the result of regular practice sessions held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at which time Mrs. Shirlee Changnon, sponsor, helped the girls polish new yells as well as review old ones. Using the rotating captain system again this year, each of the girls planned a pep assembly and organized the cheers at a game.

Newly organized last year, the Pep Club continued to be a loyal cheering section for Nilehi teams. Dressed in identifying white blouses and seated in a special cheering section, members of the Pep Club responded to the cheerleaders and sparked the enthusiasm of other spectators.

The Frosh-Soph cheerleaders Susan Stockmar, Marilyn Barnett, Mimi Stone, Ginger Golden, Diane Jefferson, and Renee Baron work out a new cheer in a practice session before a big home game.

Whether sparking the spirit in a football crowd or planning skits for the pep assemblies, the Pep Club members always show the same enthusiasm. Standing: C. Czarnota, S. Kagen, M. Kohls. Seated: D. Rothholtz, B. Larsen, C. Joslyn.

Taking time out from an executive board meeting, Barbara Duckers (vice-president), Eileen Corr (treasurer), Roberta Simmons (secretary), and Karen L. Holmberg (president) think ahead to the plans they have made for the G.A.A. membership drive.

G.A.A. members paid a special visit to the Norwood Old Folk's Home in Chicago. After the program Eileen Corr served refreshments to some of the old folks.

UNITY, TEAMWORK, AND SPORTSMANSHIP ARE TOPS IN G.A.A.

At the G.A.A. formal initiation held in May, newly elected officers are installed, letter winners receive their awards, and qualified G.A.A. girls are taken into the club as members. Mrs. Changnon presents Carol Constantine with her swim award as M. Hendrickson, F. Kadens, N. Keppeler, F. Marling, D. Payne, D. Petersen, and M. Dell wait for their awards.

Unity, teamwork, and sportsmanship are tops on the list of goals for the Girls' Athletic Association. Last summer the four officers of the club, Karen L. Holmberg (president), Barbara Duckers (vice-president), Roberta Simmons (secretary), and Eileen Corr (treasurer) met together to plan the year's events and the goals to be achieved. When school began, they introduced these plans to the board members, the planning group of the club. It was then the duty of the board members and officers, guided by the three sponsors, Miss Helen Heitmann, Miss Betty Schmidt, and Miss Barbara Ray, to make all necessary arrangements for each activity. Besides planning social events, each board member is a manager of a sport, assuming leadership in organizing that activity.

Mass meetings, a new activity this year, are held monthly for all G.A.A. members to come and work together and to give their ideas for the success of their club. At this time, also, the executive board and board members discuss plans for the coming activities and give reports on the new sports' schedules. After the meeting the members can sign up on different committees for these activities.

Playing on the field or working together on a social activity, board members need teamwork to accomplish the year's goals. Back Row: D. Platt (tennis), B. Halvorsen (points and awards), J. Sodemann (basketball), N. Phillips (swim), M. Kamin (soccer), P. Roubal (tumbling). Middle Row: C. Latham (publicity), L. McCollach (basketball, acting secretary), I. Sonkin (softball). First Row: K. Kivimagi (volleyball), B. Farwell (golf), S. Schuster (modern dance).

The race is on! S. Schmidt and teammates, M. Tabel, Mr. Platt, Mrs. Platt, Mrs. Tabel, and M. Tabel, take the lead against P. Roubal and teammates, B. Wolff, Mrs. Schuster, D. Schuster, S. Schuster, and J. Linn during "follow the leader" relay at Parents' Playnite held March 21.

The responsibility of Barbara Krumsieg, freshman representative, is to attend board meetings and to voice opinions and ideas of other freshman G.A.A. members.

Last spring Karen L. Holmberg and Barbara Duckers were chosen from the junior class to represent G.A.A. at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, where they received training in leadership, sportsmanship, and organization.

Having been trained in the rules and techniques of their particular sports, junior and senior gym and swim leaders assist the PE teachers during their classes. Back Row: S. Waterloo, E. Corr, M. D. Kariolick aims for an open space to score that winning point in the last seconds of the field hockey game. J. Babcock, teammate, prepares to assist her but S. Burger, P. Leman, and K. Rosenquist have plans to stop the ball before the point is made.

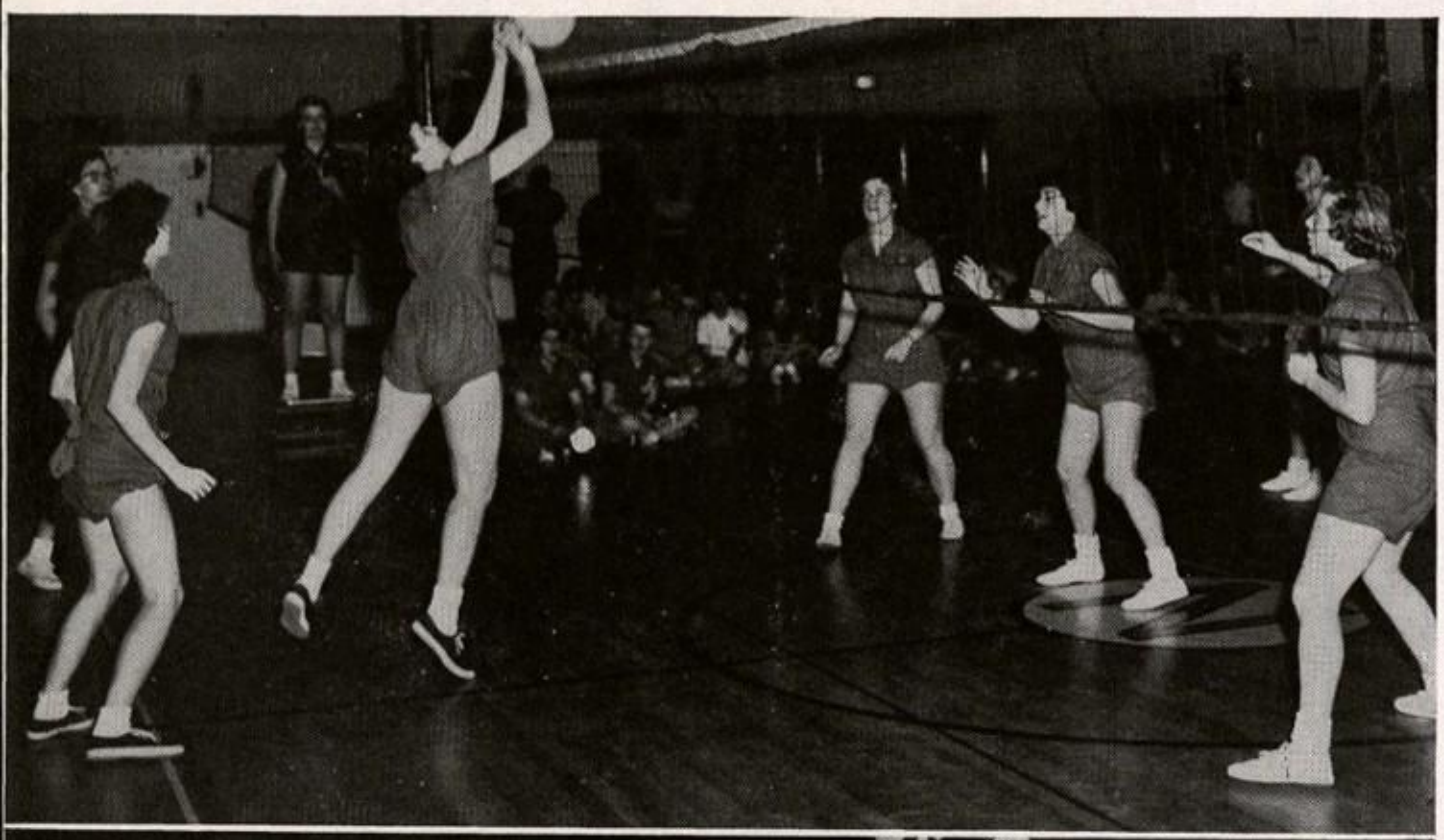
In the last seventeen years, G.A.A. has raised its membership from a small handful to a large group of three hundred girls. The sports schedule has grown from one day a week to four. Activities, once very limited, have increased to include sports of all types. A G.A.A. member now can choose to participate in field hockey, soccer, tennis, swim club, bowling, basketball, modern dance, tumbling, volleyball, softball, or golf, or all of them.

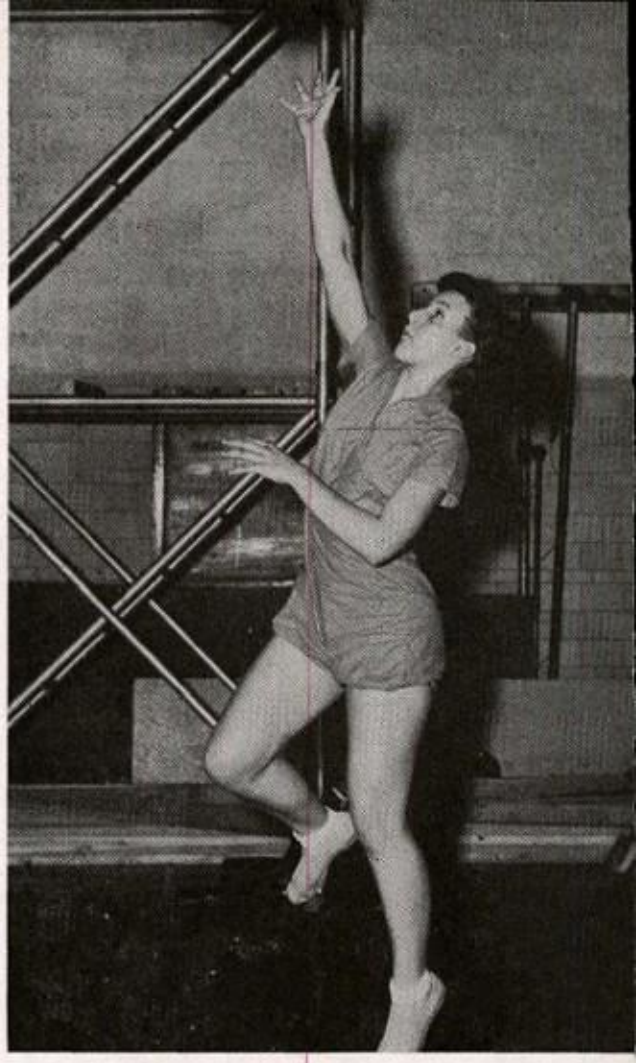
Social activities have also increased. This year G.A.A. sponsored the two annual dances: the Christmas dance, "Belles and Beaux Cotillion", with decorations of blue, silver, and white; and the turnabout dance, "Seventh Heaven", with a leap year theme of cupids carried out in colors of lavender, pink, and white. The G.A.A. float brought teamwork to the club as many members gathered during evenings in a cold garage to put together Woody Woodpecker which won a place in the annual Homecoming Parade.

Shirley Ahrens, senior, demonstrates her bowling form as she aims for another strike at the Glenview lanes. Shirley is high scorer and high series girl of the N.T.H.S. league.

That's using her head! Jean Dunn leaps into the air to rebound the soccer ball to her teammates during a tournament game.

Spikes and high set-ups are challenging to the girls in volleyball. L. Eggers blocks the ball to her opponents D. Rothholtz, J. Cohen, P. Whitesell, and J. Dunn while J. Godell and G. Snyder, teammates, prepare for a sudden rebound.





Kitty Mueller shows good form in her execution of her layup shot prior to the championship game.

Steady! During G.A.A. tumbling S. Schmidt and K. Holmberg demonstrate good form and balance in the shoulder stand to M. Tabel, J. Sodemann, Miss B. Ray (sponsor), B. Krumsieg, P. Roubal, and M. Larsen.

HELPING YOUNG PEOPLE REALIZE THEIR POTENTIALITIES IS EXCITING.

Dr. Joseph A. Mason, superintendent of Nilehi, finds excitement in planning an educational program for young people which will help them realize their potentialities. As future citizens, young people need knowledge to prepare them to assume responsibility in the community as well as to meet the requirement for college or a career. Part of the challenge of Dr. Mason's position is finding teachers with the ability to spur on their students. Furthermore, a setting must be provided which will inspire both students and teachers to search for knowledge.

In addition to his functions at Niles, Dr. Mason has held offices in state and national educational organizations. During 1956, he acted as president of the Illinois Association of School Administrators. He was a member of the Governor's Commission on Education which planned the Pre-White House Conference and attended the White House Conference on Education as the delegate from Illinois.

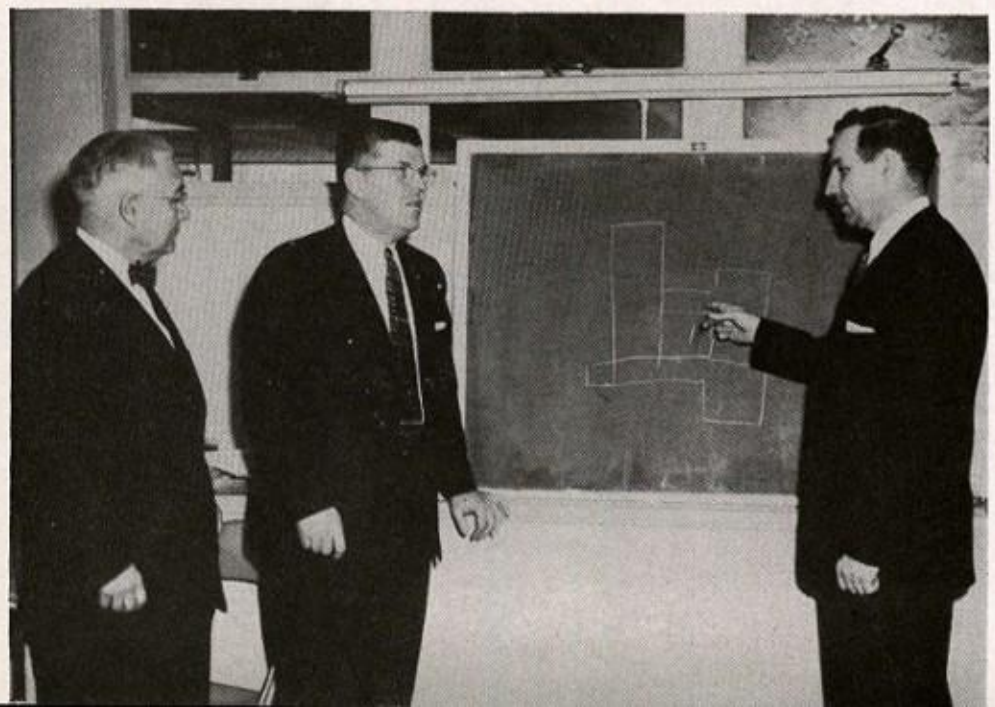
Dr. Mason, superintendent of Nilehi, finds excitement in seeing young people come alive through activities planned by his staff.

Miss Helen Johanns, administrative assistant to Dr. Mason, has charge of public relations and acts as Dr. Mason's personal representative.

Members of the Board of Education, Mr. W. Morris Wise, Dr. Walter Bornemeier, Mr. Clyde Anderson, Mr .Leo Bushey (president), Mr. Daniel Lang, Mr. Clarence Payne, Mr. Warren Meyer, and Dr. Joseph Mason gather around the long table to discuss the plans for the new building. Miss Johanns acts as secretary for the Board.

A MODERN SCHOOL IS "BIG BUSINESS".

A modern school is big business and the responsibility for directing the two million dollar enterprise is in the hands of the seven man Board of Education which includes five business and two professional men. Matters of broad policy, teacher's salaries, approving funds for purchasing and maintenance of equipment for the present school plant are problems of this group. Furthermore, in 1956, the Board of Education has had to supervise the planning of a new school for which contracts were let in May, 1956. Cost of this new building, which will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1957, will be four million dollars; equipment and land development will bring the total cost to five million dollars.



Members of the Skokie Valley Association were guests of Nilehi on Industrial Education Day, March 16. Dr. Mason explains a rough sketch of the new school to Mr. W. Meyer, board member, and Mr. P. Farley of industry.

This year's PTA officers are Mrs. Allan Weissburg (president), Mr. Kenneth Stevens (vice-president), Mrs. Joseph Miresse (secretary), and Mrs. Herbert Walter (treasurer).

Gertrude Knodler is served a hot dog by PTA members Mrs. Robert Seneco, Mrs. Earle Constantine, Mrs. Melvin Kawell, and Mrs. Charles Fisher who were on hand at the football game to keep Nilehi fans supplied with hot coffee or cocoa.

Mrs. Allan Weissburg and Mrs. Axel Erikson give the center piece a last minute check as they prepare the tables for the annual dinner given by the PTA.

The Parent-Teacher Association give Mom and Dad an opportunity to meet the faculty and learn more about Nilehi. Each year, at four meetings of PTA, a particular class level is represented at which time the homeroom teachers of that level are present to become better acquainted with the parents of their students. At a dinner given this year on November 17, teachers were guests of the PTA.

A second goal of the PTA is that of providing parents with an insight into our school life. Each year, during American Education Week, parents are invited to accompany us through our daily schedules, so that they may learn exactly how we spend our school hours. Furthermore, at the monthly meetings, school groups such as the choir, orchestra, or band perform. This year, a panel composed of juniors and seniors discussed whether modern education teaches students to think.

PTA members also lend their services in other ways. Homeroom mothers help to plan Christmas parties while others sell refreshments at athletic contests. A monthly news bulletin informs parents of school events and provides interesting information about the faculty, administration, and school organizations.

Mr. Harold R. Ohlson, senior class adviser, helps Charlotte Conrad decide on a college best suited to her needs and abilities.

ADVISORS ARE TEACHERS,

"As advisers we receive our greatest rewards through helping a student realize that he can find a worthy place in life and make the most of himself if he learns self-guidance and applies himself to his studies. We prepare people for self-guidance and thinking for themselves." Although this is the most exciting aspect of their work, the six advisers, who are class principals, guidance directors, and teachers, also check excuses for absence, talk to parents and visitors, and attend meetings as part of the daily routine.

As class principals the advisers attend weekly meetings to develop the policies of the school and to decide on methods of putting them into action. Responsible for a certain class level, they guide the homeroom teachers and activities at each class level. They also assist the superintendent in evaluating the work of individual faculty members.

As guidance directors advisers register transfer students, handle serious cases of discipline or truancy, and counsel students in making program changes and plans for a career or college. Teachers consult them when there are problems involving students. As a committee they work together to formulate guidance policies for the entire school.

As members of the teaching faculty the advisers instruct a class in one of the academic departments. Like any other teacher they attend regular staff meetings and spend evenings grading papers.

Priscilla Baker, Janet Loranger, Lois Lamberg, Lorraine Gustafson, and Donald Blair acquaint students with the customs and cultures of foreign countries through the study of French, Spanish, Latin, and German.

Like Chaucer's Oxford Scholar, the faculty of Niles Township High School continue their studies. Of the eighty-four faculty members who responded to a questionaire, three hold the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and four are working on a Doctors degree; forty-eight hold the Master of Arts degree; of the twenty-four who hold the Bachelors degree, fourteen are working for their Master's degree in such diversified fields as guidance and personnel, speech correction, theatre, biology, health and physical education, mathematics, education and history, industrial education, school administration, and business education at such schools as the University of Illinois, Northwestern, Columbia, University of Chicago, University of Wisconsin, and University of Colorado.

The Board of Education not only encourages this professional growth but requires that faculty members receive five credits every five years. Teachers may earn these credits by attending school or working, either alone or in committees, on problems affecting the school. For the past two years, teachers in the Mathematics, Science, Social Studies, and English Departments have been working with the Curriculum Committee of the University of Illinois on a study to determine whether students can learn to think critically through instruction in logic, semantics, and scientific method. Other professional growth committees work on the following problems: reorganizing the curriculum; developing a guidance program; surveying the freshman mathematics classes to find out how the scores on the Schorling-Clark One Hundred Problem Arithmetic Test correlate with success in algebra; correlating the Social Studies I and II classes; bridging the gap from elementary to secondary school in mathematics; surveying of students enrolled in industrial arts concerning accomplishments of students enrolled as compared to those of the student body as a whole. Furthermore, this summer, teachers with Master's degrees, will continue to enrich their backgrounds by studies in the comparative arts, Latin, and Greek and Roman history.

Members of the Social Studies Department have reorganized the senior Social Studies Department with the result that economics, sociology, and Latin-American history were added to the curriculum. Standing: Anthony Shubert, Vernon Haubrich, John Palmer, Howard Byram, Eugene Napier, Mike Basrak, James Michael, Leo Babcock, David Jackson, Thomas Harmon, Charles Mattka. Seated: John Betts (chairman), Dorothy Lungmus, John Hallberg, Aune Toivola, Don Wright, Marie Green, Keith Hertweck, Arthur Ryden.

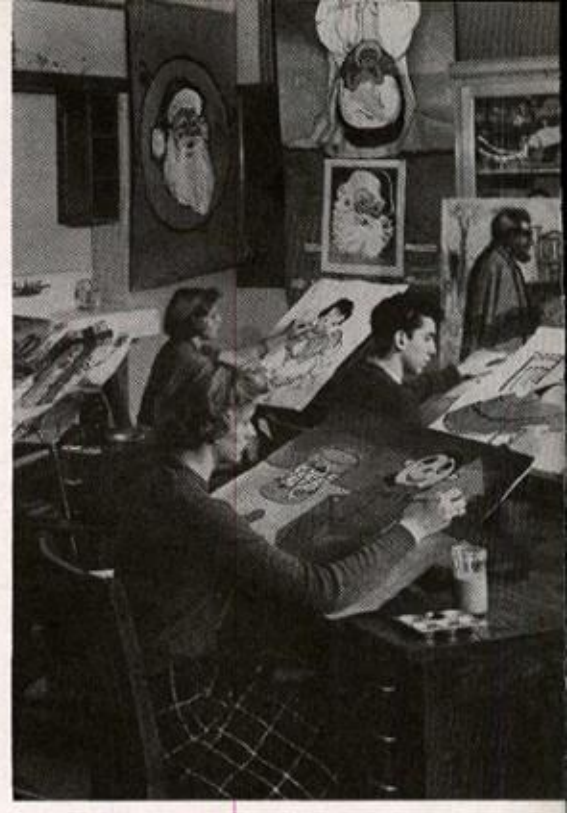
Mr. Leo Provost, band director, Miss Virginia Stemp, dramatics, Mr. Clifford Collins, music teacher, and Mr. Hugh McGee, music director, discuss plans for the Fine Arts Department in the new building.



Murals in the halls during the Christmas season, posters for school events, and scenery for school productions are created by the students of John Wilkins of the Art Department.

Setting up objectives, curriculum planning, and designing room arrangements for the science section of the new high school occupied members of the Science Department: Charles Hussey, Homer Ellis, Bernard Welch, Myra Robinson, Ralph Harvey, Robert Botthof, Carl Burgener, George Roth, and Florence Harrison (chairman).

FACULTY, HOMEROOM, AND DEPARTMENTAL MEETINGS

Aims of General Math I and II, IA and IIA, integration of solid geometry and plane geometry, and incorporating methods from the Principles of Critical Thinking Program, were problems studied by Mathematics Department members Margaret deBooy, Leo Hoosline, Earl Hoff, Albert Rambis, John Sheahan, Helen Hall, Frances Williams, Elizabeth Lawson, and Thomas Kiviluoma (chairman).

Three forty-five each Monday finds the teachers of Nilehi gathered together, (often fortified with cookies and coffee) to consider professional problems. The first Monday of each month Dr. Mason meets with the entire staff to discuss such topics as the building program, salaries, or administrative policies affecting the entire school. The second Monday of each month is reserved for homeroom teachers' meetings at which time the advisers, who direct the work at each class level, brief the teachers on such points as registration procedure, guidance activities, and routine administrative duties.

Department meetings are held on the third Monday and more frequently, if necessary. These meetings, which bring together all the teachers in a particular subject under direction of the department chairmen, are used to set up objectives of the teaching in that field, to plan curriculum offerings, and to select text books. New courses, like sociology, economics, Latin-American history, grammar and syntax, creative writing, home design, architectural drawing are an outgrowth of this study. Established courses also are evaluated and revised. This past year faculty members have had the additional responsibility of designing rooms and selecting equipment for both the new wing, which will be ready in the fall of 1956, and for the new building, which will be under construction next year.

Mary DiTullio, Mary Nutt, Ada Immel, Marie Green, Helen Johanns (chairman), Nova Thompson, Eugene Napier, Joan Coon, and Onni Hendrickson have assisted in the planning and equipping of the modern Business Education Department in the new wing to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1956.

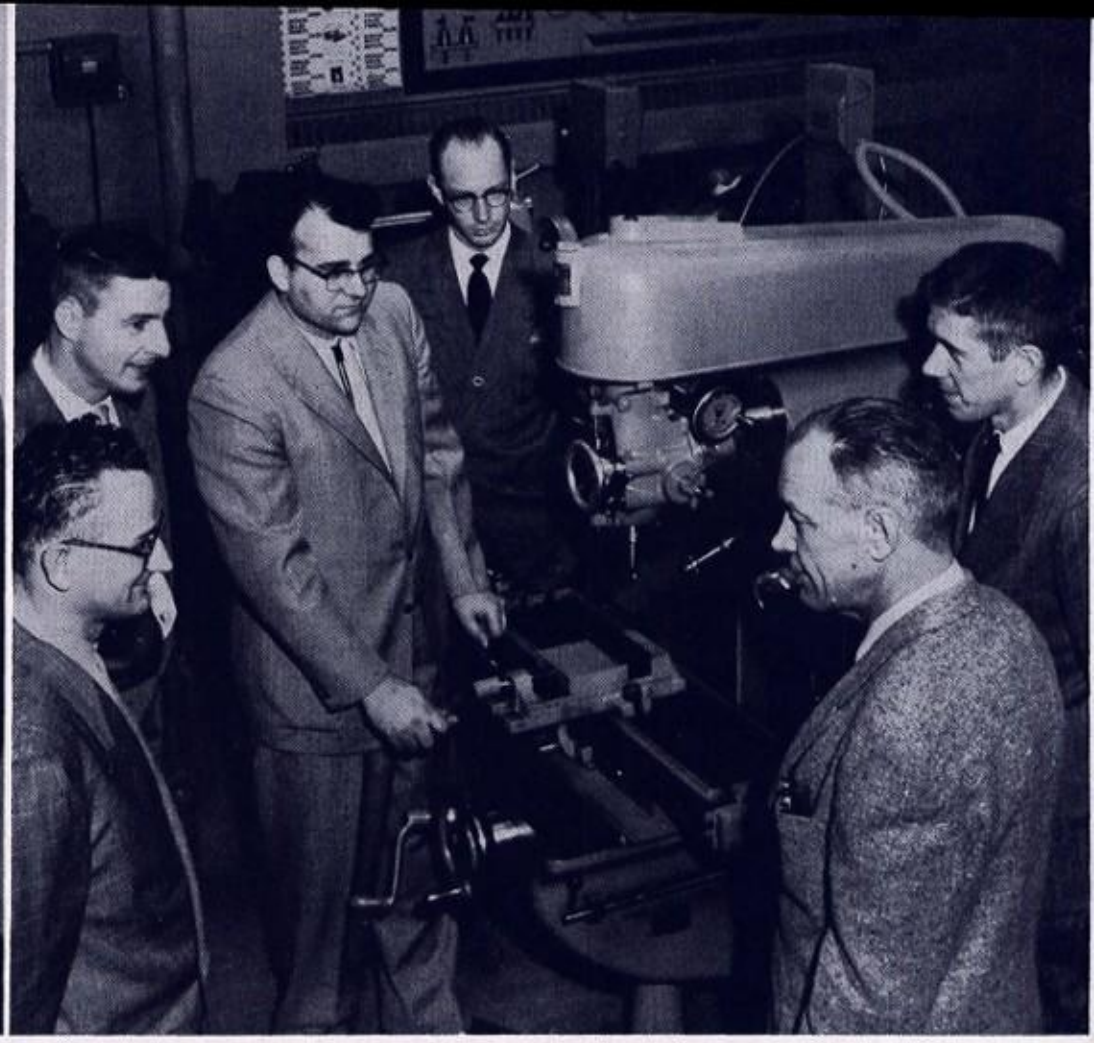
FACULTY KEEPS

Janet Oehler, Florence Butler, and Alice Line (chairman) examine the seam allowance on a pattern.

Nilehi teachers, in addition to their intra-faculty professional activities, participate in local, state, and national organizations. A majority of the teachers belong to the Illinois Education Association and the National Education Association. Forty-eight teachers, responding to a questionnaire on the subject of professional activities, belonged to ninety-six organizations. National organizations such as the National Council of Teachers of English, National Science Teachers Association, National Speech and Hearing Association, American Association of Physics Teachers, American Personnel and Guidance Association, Women's National Aquatic Forum, and state organizations such as Illinois Council of Teachers of English, Illinois Association of Chemical Teachers, Illinois Council for Social Studies, Illinois State High School Coache's Association, and Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association keep the faculty up-to-date, through journals and meetings, on latest research in both subject matter and techniques. Local associations such as the North Suburban Council for Social Studies, the Chicago Classical Association, and the Chicago Personnel and Guidance Association likewise provide professional literature and workshops. In a two month period, twenty-seven teachers attended fifteen meetings.

Faculty members also attend meetings of local civic organizations such as the Skokie Valley Industrial Association, Skokie Valley Business and Professional Women's Club, and the American Jewish Congress, Skokie Chapter. During the past year, staff members have spoken at meetings of the Rotary Club, Kiwanis, Lions, Chamber of Commerce, and the Retail Merchant's Association.

During a physical education departmental meeting, Shirlee Changnon, Helen Heitmann, Barbara Ray, and Betty Schmidt study the P. E. class schedule and the complications resulting from crowded conditions.



Nelson Grote explains the operation of a new drill to members of the Industrial Arts Department: Gail Wesley, Jack Lain (chairman), Bruce Sorenson, George Fink, and Robert Mackey. This year the department added courses in home design and architectural drawing to their curriculum.

UP-TO-DATE IN SUBJECT MATTER AND METHODS . . .

Should the juniors have swimming the first six weeks or should they play touch football, letting the sophomores take swimming? Harold Isaacson (athletic director), Mike Basrak, Howard Byram, Jim Phipps, Tom Harmon, and Tony Schubert wrestle with problems arising from lack of space.

Mary Walker, school librarian, handles approximately 20,800 books and magazines each year.

At Nilehi, as in any modern school, the faculty includes members who are trained to provide us with many special services. If we feel ill or have a sudden accident, Miss Weinsheim, the school nurse, is on hand. She also arranges for yearly chest X-rays, sight and hearing check-ups, and keeps our medical records up to date. To help us find the reference books or magazines which we need for many classes, Miss Walker keeps her vast supply of books catalogued and stacked in the right places. Each year she handles 8500 textbooks and 2000 new additions to the supply. Mrs. Moran corrects, with the aid of tape recordings and exercises, speech deficiencies of students. Driver's Education is given at some time to every student at Nilehi. The course, which includes both lecture work and actual driving practice in specially made cars, is under the direction of Mr. Babcock and Mr. Odlivak. Through the visual aid program, Mrs. Hind serves the township by distributing films and film strips to the grade schools and various organizations. She also provides tape recorders, phonograph equipment, and opaque machines for school activities.

Nick Odlivak discusses a copy of "Rules of the Road" with Leo Babcock before taking out a group of students in the Driver's Education car.

Mabel Morse assists Miss Walker in the tremendous task of keeping track of the many books in the school library.

THE MAIN OFFICE IS THE NERVE CENTER OF NILEHI

The switchboard buzzes impatiently and typewriter keys clatter in that nerve center of Niheli—the main office. Behind the scenes, vast file cases contain histories of each student and records of meetings, activities, and schedules. Duplicating machines continuously roll off copies of tests, bulletins, and announcements. In room 114, tardy students are constantly reporting to obtain passes, detentions, and admits to classes. The registrar's office is a familiar place to college bound seniors and all others who desire information concerning grades, honor points, or credits. The main clock ticks away the minutes until time for each bell, and then a flood of students and teachers pour into the office for information and help.

As Betty Moe, receptionist, types, Helene Snyder, switchboard operator, and Monica Shabow, order clerk, discuss the announcements of the day.

Irene Prang, the office manager, pauses for a moment at the desk of Ruth Ackerlund, typist, who prepares a test for a teacher.

In Room 114 Helen Marks, the attendance clerk, and Lucille Murphy, the advisers' secretary, read over the daily absentee list.

CAFETERIA STAFF AND CUSTODIANS MAKE NILEHI PLEASANT

Soup, sandwiches, salads, and desserts—these and many other pleasing dishes are prepared each day by a hard-working cafeteria staff. In the morning a fragrant aroma of pies, cakes, and other delicacies issues from the kitchen. As the hungry students and teachers rush through the crowded lines, members of the staff stand ready behind each shiny counter to heap the plates with hot dogs, hamburgers, or roast beef.

The custodial staff spends hours each day scrubbing, polishing, mending, and repairing to keep the building in good order. Shoveling snow, cutting grass, painting walls, and refinishing desks are only a few of their many routine tasks. Setting up the gym bleachers for a basketball game or the folding chairs for an assembly takes a great deal of time each week. During the summer the whole building must be completely cleaned and decorated for the following school year.

Being Together Is Fun . . .

WE SHARE GOOD TIMES DURING FOUR YEARS AT NILEHI.

During our four years at Nilehi we become good friends through hours spent in classrooms and at school sponsored activities. More important in our close relationships are week-end activities. Jay Young, Bette Vosnos, Chuck Vosnos, Mary Meehan, and Bruce Peterson decide they would rather talk than dance at an "open house".

"I'll meet you in Roundy's after school" is a phrase familiar to all students. Chuck Wicker, Mary Mahoney, Karen Carlson, Charles Gunsallus, Jules Traut and Leonora McColloch discuss weekend plans over a coke.

A HARD-WORKING CABINET . . .

The pace quickened as our senior year began. From the Homecoming Dance in autumn to Graduation in June, our last year was filled with responsibilities, excitement, and preparation.

Bigger duties were given to us: we regulated the hall traffic as monitors; edited the school yearbook and the Nilehilite; planned activities as members of Union Board, See Chicago Club, and Senior Cabinet.

We saw history made when our team won their first Suburban League football game by defeating Proviso. When we received senior pictures, ordered announcements, and were measured for our caps and gowns, we realized our high school life was drawing to a close.

To prepare for the future we struggled through chemistry, composition, sociology and trigonometry. Our class standings became vitally important to us as we applied and made plans for college and careers, studied catalogs, and took college board examinations. We looked forward to graduation and our entrance into a challenging adult world.

The Senior Class Cabinet, composed of elected representatives from each homeroom, works together to plan Graduation, Homecoming, and other senior activities. Standing: Merle Hendrickson, Nancy Harris, Myrna Zlatos, Joel Febel, Dave Chevrier, Ken Kay, Dave Lindquist, and Bob Blowers. Seated: Mary Kohls, Sandy Bruening, Barbara Larson, Paul Bennett, Barbara McKaig, Marilyn Horn, Felicia Kadens, Jack Hagman (President), Bob Schroeder (Vice-President), Rosemary Nitsche (Vice-Secretary and Treasurer), Bob Koif, Barbara Neuman, Ed Hensel, and Bette Vosnos.

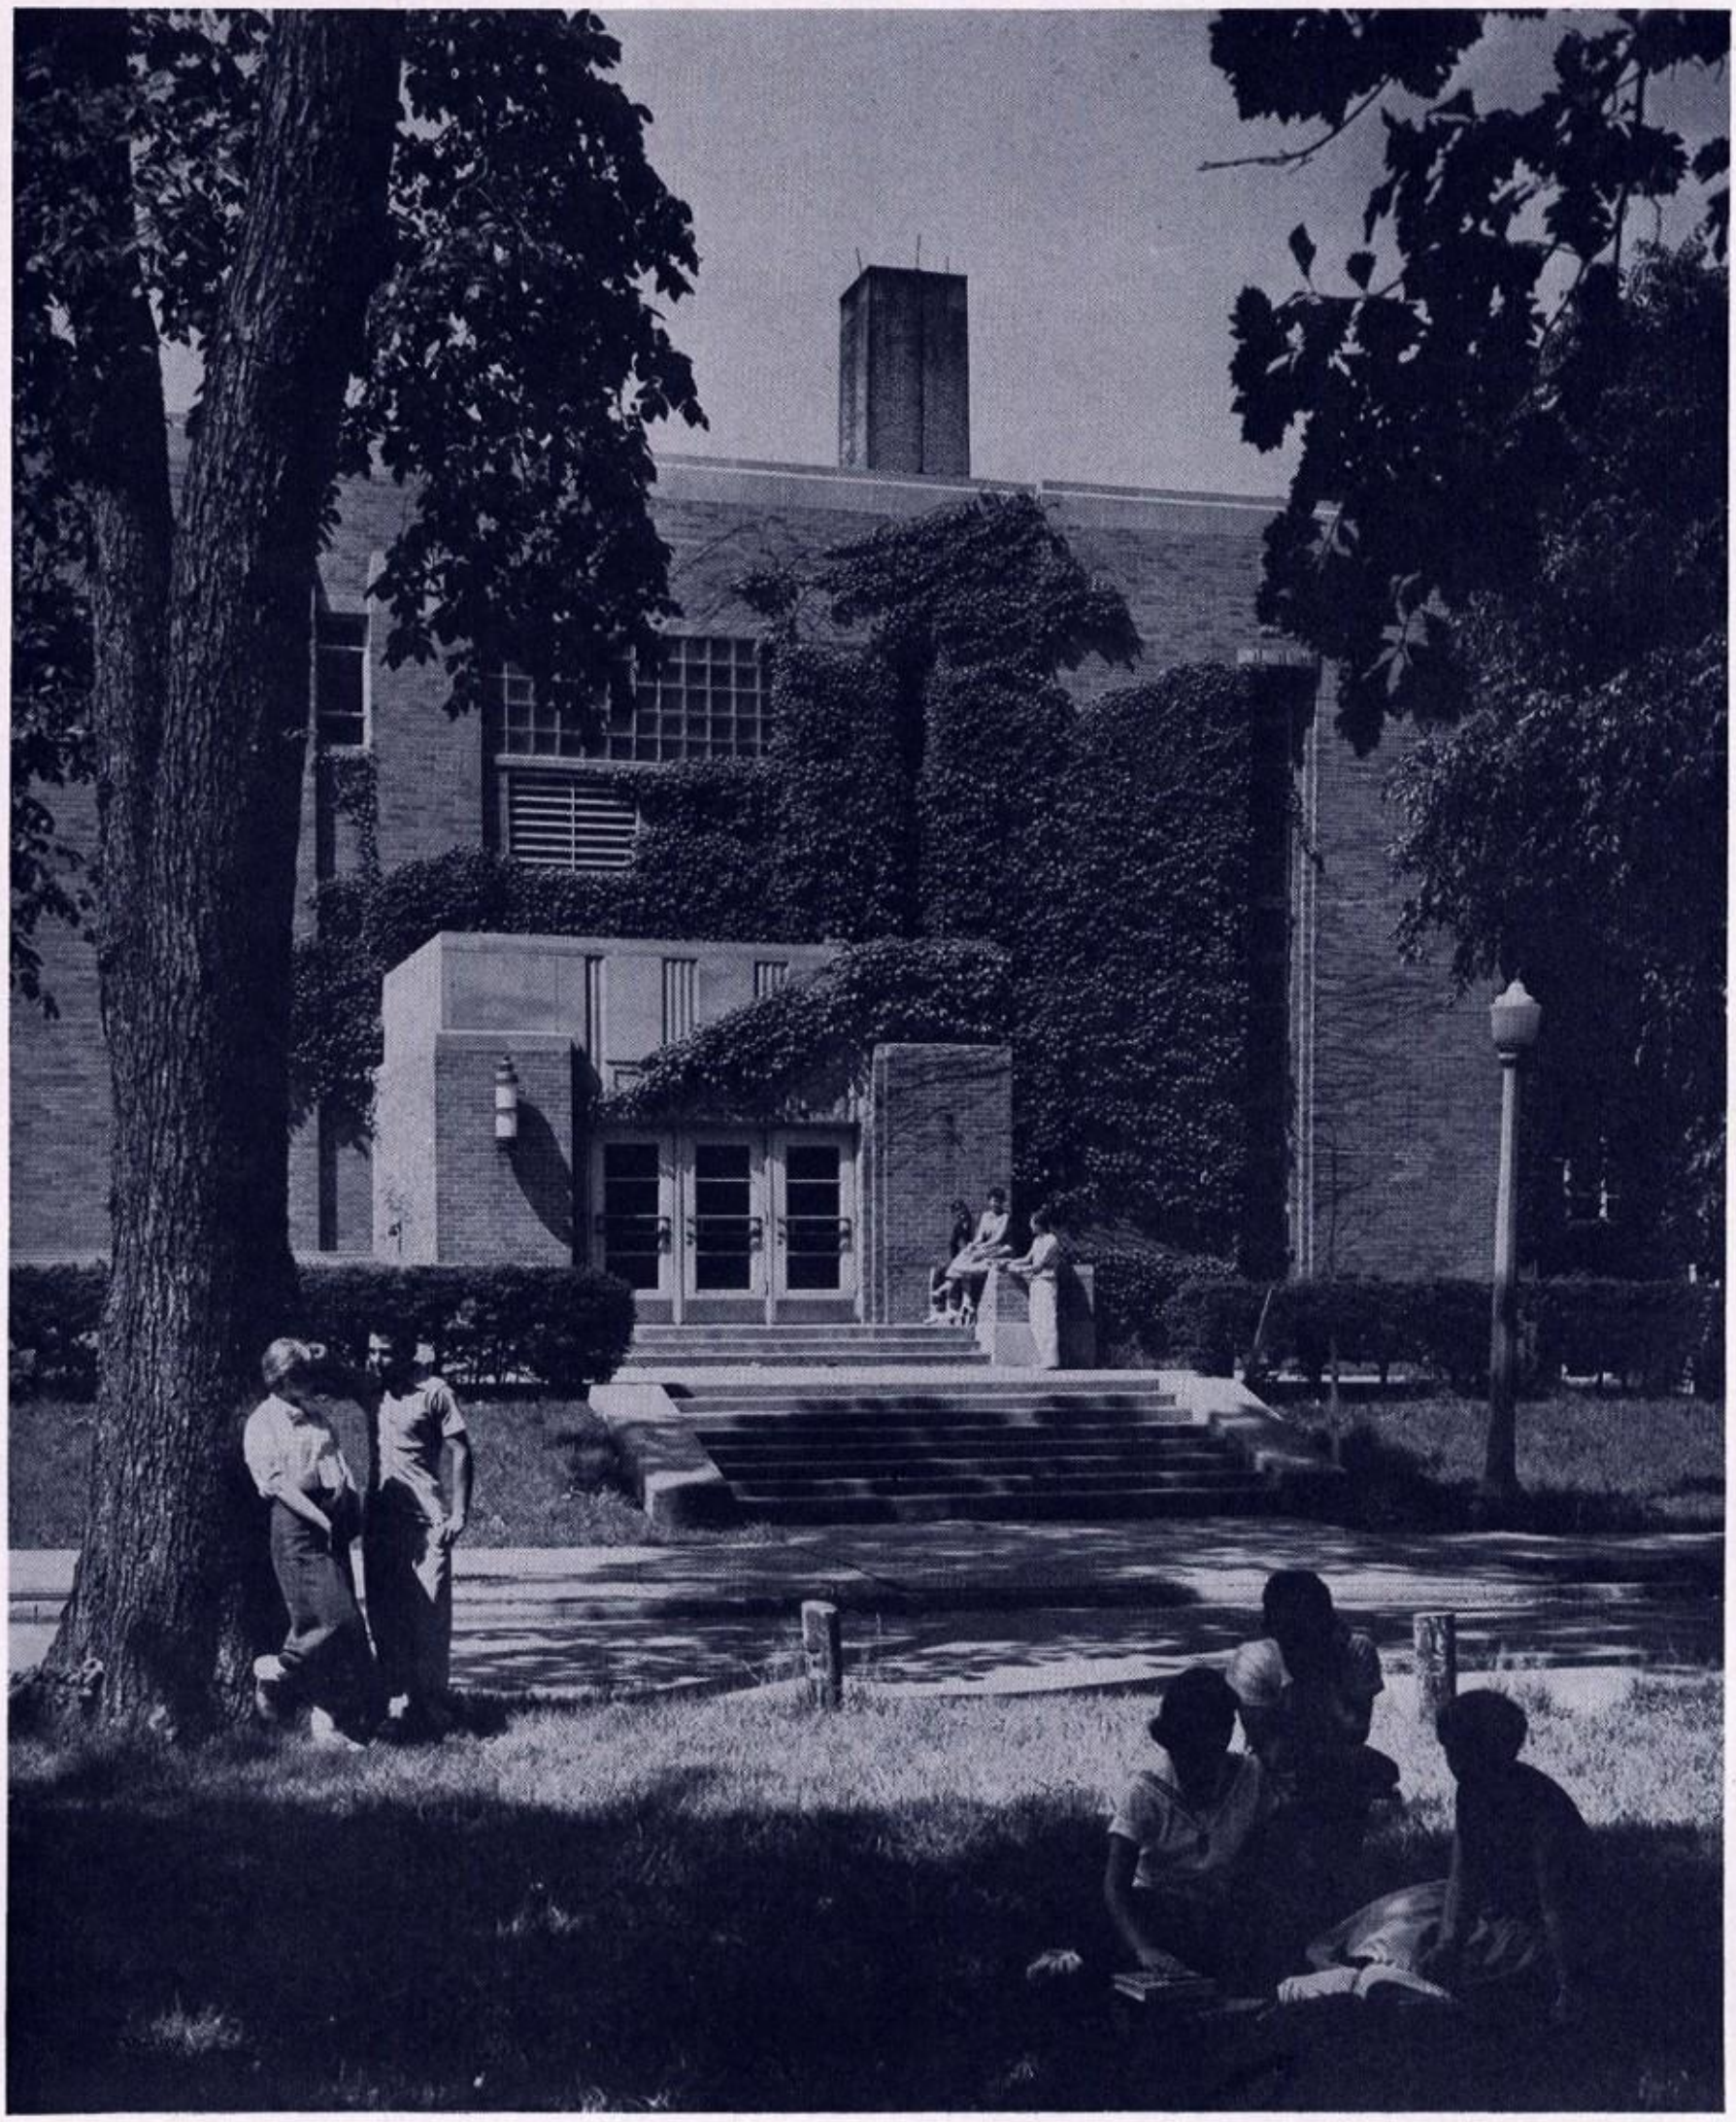
UNDERCLASSMEN CARRY ON NILEHI'S TRADITIONS . . .



JUNIORS UNDERSTUDY SENIORS . . .

Planning for the Junior Prom is an exciting experience for the Junior Cabinet. Standing: Ron Korsan, Ted Swanson, Terry Moore, Don Michonski, Hal Neimer, and Bob Hartig. Seated: Lorelei Schiller, Barbara Thompson, Bob Peterson, Vince Donile, Norm Garland (president), Kaye Eberhardt, Dick Machas, Pat Baumann, Lela Heim, and Mary Meehan.

As juniors we entered the upper strata of high school society. Teachers knew us by name. Many of us had the ring of that all important boy on a chain around our neck. We were big "wheels."

We began to assume leadership in school affairs as officers of clubs, supervisors and chairmen of study halls, and as experienced members of Student Council. Under the leadership of the Junior Cabinet, the halls of Niles were "decked with holly" for Christmas. To earn money for the Prom, we held two dances, the Cashmere Casual and the Pencil Pushers' Hoe-Down after basketball games. Recognition for our response to the demands of leadership came to all of us, and especially to that boy and girl "with outstanding character" who received the Hi-Y citizenship awards, won last year by Elaine Shuman and Bill DiGilio. Furthermore, five percent of the junior class was inducted into the National Honor Society.

School became more difficult as we looked forward to college and careers. We began to realize that our class rank could make or break us. Our subjects were more specialized as we branched out into the various curricula like engineering, nursing, diversified occupations, or secretarial.

Being juniors, we were more active in extra curricular activities. Spring brought Trojan Trumperies, the Washington trip, and the musicale, Student Life. The Junior Prom at the Palmer House climaxed our most exciting year.

Sandy Paul and Mary Dell'Aringa create a Christmas atmosphere by decorating a window with a mural of Santa.

WE BEGIN TO ASSUME LEADERSHIP IN SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

The thrilling moment of choosing a class ring arrives at last! Eileen Scott looks them over as Vince Donile watches.

SOPHOMORES ARE NOW PART OF NILEHI . . .

The day finally arrived—we were sophomores. No longer were we looked down upon as "those lowly little freshies." We found ourselves looking at the freshman class and thinking, "We could never have been that green!"

As sophomores we were given more freedom in choosing our curriculum; we studied specialized courses such as world history, biology, typing, a foreign language, or shop courses.

Walking through the halls was no longer an ordeal; we were familiar with the school, the faculty, and our classmates. What made us feel even older was being permitted to eat lunch at Roundy's with the juniors and seniors. We discovered that our social life had become "it." Saturday evenings were no longer spent at home; we attended activities, parties, and dances with the upper classmen.

More people than ever came to watch our class teams. Our frosh-soph basketball squad had a better record than the varsity and tied for second place in the Suburban League. When we beat the juniors in the annual J-V game, we were really proud.

Our homeroom representatives to the Sophomore Cabinet, elected at the beginning of the year, were kept busy with the float for the Homecoming parade and the drive to collect canned goods for an orphanage.

Dianne Jefferson, Phyllis Ponto, and Mary O'Beirne weathered the cold and rain to ride with this huge parrot on Homecoming Day.

FRESHMEN . . .
NEWCOMERS TO THE EXCITEMENT OF NILES.

The Freshman class cabinet is composed of a representative from each homeroom. Organized in the second semester due to the increased freshman enrollment, these students learn the duties of a cabinet and discuss student problems. Standing: Dick Iverson, Steve Fox, Judy Comiano, Gene Fogarty, Nancy Lotz, Douglas Spengler, Mimi Stone, Bill Anderson, Ronald Krone, Miss Toivola and Mr. Wenzell (freshman advisers). Seated: Linda Randel, David Kreinich, Penny Boom, Judy Sonne, Carole Silverman, Keith Krause, Judy DuBonn, Harmon Motch.

Who will ever forget the confusion of those first unforgettable weeks! It seemed as if we would never become accustomed to the bewildering schedules, large building, crowded halls, and new classes. My mid October, however, the strangeness began to wear off. The boy next to us in study hall was "Dick," not just somebody in a blue shirt. The frosh-soph mixer helped to break down our feeling of inferiority. Some of the school spirit rubbed off on us, too, when we saw how excited everyone was about our football win over Proviso. We were becoming a part of Nilehi.

In our classrooms, too, we felt less strange. Our first talk in speech class had us shaking from head to toe, but after we knew our classmates better it wasn't quite so bad. The Kuder Preference Tests given in our social studies class gave us a new look at ourselves. We were surprised to discover that some of the girls would make good mechanics, while some of the boys looked promising in home economics.

As we look back on those first days we can laugh about the embarrassing moments of walking into the wrong classroom or forgetting our locker combinations. Soon we'll be selling "elevator passes" to the new freshmen and sending them to the third floor via the basement, knowing that we could never have been so "green."

The first day of school was "D Day" for freshmen, who received instructions from freshman advisers, Mr. Victor Wenzell and Miss Aune Toivola.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A student yearbook is a record of the year: the 1956 Reflections portrays this year as an exciting one in all phases of school life. With forty additional pages and a full-page colored picture, we've tried to make you feel the excitement of our world—Nilehi. Our thanks go to Mrs. Mary Ida McGuire, sponsor of the general staff, who helped in the planning and copy-writing; to Mr. Ronald Van Arsdale, sponsor of the finance staff; to Mrs. Lucille Barnes, sponsor of the Senior Section; to Mr. Koenig of the Norman King Publishing Company; and to the photographers of Root Studios. Our personal thanks, also, to the faculty for their patience and cooperation. Without these people and their aid, this book would never have been possible.
